"HARRIMAN COMING; I'LL SEE IF WE CAN RAISE THE FUNDS"

—Roosevelt to Scott.

White House Called Up Republican Headquarters on Telephone, Former Senator Testifies.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Former Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia today testified before the Senatorial committee, which is investigating campaign contributions, that a man he believed to be President Roosevelt told him that "he would see Harriman" and try to raise funds much needed in the New York Campaign in 1904.

"When we got low in funds in October, 1904," said he, "I asked Mr. Bliss if he could not go to 26 Broadway and get some money. He said 'no,' that he had already secured a contribution from those people. I asked him how much they had given and he said $100,000."

Scott said he was in Republican national headquarters in New York in October, 1904, when a telephone call came "from the White House" for Treasurer Bliss or Chairman Cortelyou. Neither was present, so he talked on the wire.

Scott did not declare the identity of the speaker at the White House end of the wire, but referred to him as "the voice from the White House," and "the response from the White House."

"'What is this trouble I hear about Higgins?'" Senator Scott said he heard over the wire; "'I hear he may be defeated.'"

He told "the White House" that Higgins was in danger.

"'Can't the State Committee supply the necessary funds?' asked the White House."

Scott said he told of the difficulties in getting money for the campaign, and the response from "the White House" was:

"'I would rather lose the election in the country than be defeated in my own State.'

"I said: 'There is no danger of your being defeated,'" said Mr. Scott. He added that the voice at the White House said:

"'Mr. Harriman is coming to see me and I'll see if we can arrange to raise the funds to help Higgins.'"

Scott said the committee "would have to judge" with whom he had the conversation.

"Oh, I might as well answer your questions," he added; "I thought I was talking with President Roosevelt."

When further questioned he said he could not remember whether the "party at the White House" had said, 'Mr. Harriman is coming here" or "I will have Mr. Harriman come here."

Scott said that when he suggested that Bliss go to 26 Broadway for more money, Bliss replied President Roosevelt had notified him not to accept Standard Oil contributions.

"When all the trouble broke out about the life insurance companies and campaign contributions," said Scott, "I went to the White House and suggested to President Roosevelt, when Mr. Perkins was indicted, that we who had benefited by his contributions, supply funds to replace those he would have to return, and for the use of which he was in trouble. I said I was willing to return the amount sent into West Virginia.

"But the President said no, that if the money was to be returned it should be returned by the party as a whole."

Scott said he never had been informed of a return of $100,000 to the Standard Oil Co. or any director of it.

Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Harriman System, testified:

"I knew of Mr. Harriman's visit to Washington in October, 1904. He told me the National Committee was 'in a hole,' and owed the State Committee $200,000. He said 'the President wants me to help it out, and I've got to do it.'

"Some days later he came to my office and gave me some checks and cash. Mr. Bliss came and got them. The sum was $250,000. The checks were brokerage house checks, and were indorsed to Mr. Bliss. I told him to send receipts to the contributors if he knew them. Less than $50,000 of the contributions was in currency."

Judge Lovett could not remember the names of any of the contributors, but, after some urging, said he thought W. K. Vanderbilt was one.

"Mr. Harriman thought of making a contribution in 1908, but as it would have to be made public he would do more harm than good under conditions existing then," added Judge Lovett. The witness knew nothing of contributions in the reconvention campaign of 1912.

Charles P. Taft, the President's brother, told the committee he contributed $250,000 to the national campaign in 1908 and that $150,000 was returned. He also contributed $40,000 to the Ohio campaign.

"Prepared to Go Limit."

"I thought my brother was fitted for the presidency," said Taft, "and if elected I wanted him to walk into the White House without obligation to any great interests or corporations. On that basis I was prepared to go the limit."

Taft testified that his contributions to the President's campaign for renomination totaled $213,552, of which $125,000 was given to the National Taft Bureau, of which Representative William B. McKinley was director. To the Ohio State campaign $64,800 was given and $23,000 went for miscellaneous items.

Dan R. Hanna of Cleveland testified that he gave $177,000 to Col. Roosevelt's pre-convention campaign this year. To the Roosevelt National Committee he gave $50,000; to Walter F. Brown for the Ohio campaign $50,000, and for State organization in Ohio $77,000.

Elmer Dover of Tacoma, former secretary of the Republican Committee, has been directed by the committee to bring to Washington any records he may have left in Chicago bearing on campaign contributions in 1904 or other years.

The examination of Charles D. Hilles, Republican National Chairman, who was scheduled to appear today, was postponed until tomorrow. Other witnesses to appear today were Matthew Hale of Massachusetts and Dan R. Hanna of Ohio.

The sum of $25,000 collected and spent

MRS. JOHN J. COLE TELLS HER SIDE OF FAMILY'S ROW

Wife, for Loss of Whose Affections Husband Sued, Calls Charges Nonsensical.

PRAISES AMEDEE COLE

Declares Her Suit Was Filed to Forestall Effort to Drag Her Into Feud.

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 9.—At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Walker, in Joplin, Mo., Mrs. Dorothy Cole, wife of John Jackson Cole, gave reporters Wednesday here version of the complicated Cole family troubles.

She declared her husband's charges were nonsensical and groundless and expressed gratitude for the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Amedee Cole to her and her little son, Amedee Jackson Cole, 6 years old.

Her suit, she said, was filed in order to forestall her husband's attempt to drag her into the family feud by filing an alienation suit against his father. She blamed her husband's uncle, Dr. Ernest Cole, for making her husband believe that her affections had been alienated by his father.

"Dr. Cole has gained control of the Cole estate," she said, "and has enlisted my husband in the fight against Amadee Cole. John came so completely under the influence of Dr. Cole that his father sent him away from the Lindell boulevard home about six months ago, stopped his income and gave it to me. I am now using it to support myself and my son, who is going to school here in Joplin."

After John Cole had been sent away by his father, he went to live with his uncle on West Pine boulevard, his wife said.

"There," she declared, "Dr. Cole poisoned my husband's mind by telling him I had been guilty of indiscretions with my father-in-law, a charge as absurd as it is cruel. Then John sent Mr. Lally, his attorney, to Arthur Sager, attorney for Amedee Cole, to demand $25,000 cash and an allowance of $200 a month from my father-in-law, with a threat to file a suit in which Amedee Cole would be named."

"I was very much astonished to learn of the contemplated action of my husband in attempting to force his father to give him money. After a consultation with my father we went to St. Louis, where he saw Mr. Sager, who is Amedee Cole's attorney, and he called in Grant Gillespie, who now represents me. After talking with Gillespie my husband and Lally were summoned.

"I answered all the questions Lally asked me fully and frankly. When he and my husband left, my father and I instructed Gillespie to draw up the papers and file the suit.

"We wanted to get our suit in ahead of any others that might be filed. I was not afraid of anything and I wanted to show them that I was perfectly willing for them to produce all the evidence they talked of having. It was a case of either making them prove their statements or forcing them to keep quiet.

"Amadee Cole didn't have anything to do with the filing of this suit.

Fight Has a Social Side.

"The real cause of the Cole family troubles is that Amadee Cole has social position in St. Louis and has never cared for some of his relatives. He chose his own companions, and this fact that Dr. Cole was ignored by his brother made Dr. Cole angry.

Dr. Cole has said that he would never be satisfied until he could drag the Amadee Coles from their social place. Dr. Cole has an influence with his mother, and through that influence was able to oust Amadee Cole as manager of the Nathan Cole estate.

Before Dr. Cole took charge of the

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 9.—Making an apology to the Illinois Democrats for trying to conduct a presidential campaign while the world's series baseball contest was in progress, Gov. Woodrow Wilson made his first speech of his Springfield schedule from the steps of the Sangamon County courthouse this morning. To save his voice for the Fair Grounds speech, delivered at noon, and his speech at the Coliseum in St. Louis tonight, Gov. Wilson cut his speech short at the courthouse.

The day was dark and cloudy, and it started to rain just before Gov. Wilson was introduced. A crowd of 5000 persons stood on the lawn of the courthouse and listened to his speech.

"I feel that I owe you an apology for trying to interest you in politics when a world's baseball series is in progress," Gov. Wilson said. "But I want to say to you that Democrats are onto the curves of Col. Roosevelt and President Taft, and are going to knock out a home run every time they go to bat."

Gov. Wilson's familiarity with baseball terms greatly pleased the crowd, and he was given a rousing cheer. From the courthouse Gov. Wilson went to the Fair Grounds.

The Democratic organizations of Central Illinois had scheduled him for four speeches, two of them were cut out, as the Wilson special train got into Springfield two hours late.

Gov. Wilson and the Missourians who came across the State with him, were guests of honor at breakfast given by the Sangamon County Democrats at the St. Nicholas Hotel. Gov. Wilson made no speech at the breakfast, and none at the meeting of Democratic editors. He rested well in his car after the strenuous day yesterday in Kansas and Kansas City and his voice was stronger today.

This is Democratic day at the State Fair. Democrats from all parts of Central Illinois are here to celebrate the visit of the Democratic presidential candidate to the old home of Abraham Lincoln. Gov. Wilson referred several times to Lincoln's efforts to free the negroes from slavery and declared that the country was now in the throes of an industrial war to free her citizens from the slavery that had been fastened upon them by the great combinations of capital.

"And the people do not propose," he said, "to intrust the men who created this slavery with the duty of liberating them from it."

The Fair Grounds began filling early this morning and by 8 a. m., when the Wilson party reached Springfield, the inclosure was then well filled with the farmers who went out to see the stock show in advance of the coming of the presidential candidate.

The Wilson special will leave Springfield at 1 p. m., and unless there are unpected delays will get into St. Louis about 4 p. m. Many of the prominent Illinois Democratic leaders will go with Gov. Wilson to St. Louis and will take charge of his train when it leaves there after the Coliseum meeting tonight.

Gov. Wilson expressed a desire to get to St. Louis to meet his many warm personal friends and his political supporters.

WILSON IS HEARD IN KANSAS CITY

HIGGINSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 9.—Tired out from strenuous campaigning Gov. Wilson slept late today to rest up for his speech at the Illinois State Fair at Springfield and his series of speeches at St. Louis, Granite City and East St. Louis. A few minutes after his special car pulled out of Kansas City Gov. Wilson was sound asleep.

The nominee held a brief conference with National Committeeman Goltra after the Kansas City meeting saying that UMPIRES—O'Loughlin, Rigler, Klem and Evans.

FENWAY PARK, BOSTON, Oct. 9.—More than 30,000 fans came out this afternoon for the second game between the Red Sox and Giants for the baseball championship of the world.

The batteries were Mathewson and Meyers for New York and Collins and Carrigan for Boston.

Umpire O'Loughlin took his position behind the plate. Rigler gave decisions on bases, Klem went to left field and Evans to right.

It was announced that a hit into the left-field stands would count as a two-base hit, while hits into the temporary stands would go as home runs.

First Inning.

GIANTS—The firstball was a strike. Snodgrass drove the second ball pitched under the bleachers for a two-bagger. Doyle struck out. Collins used three wide, sweeping curves. Becker went out, Yerkes to Stahl. Snodgrass took third. Time was called until the umpires could clear the field for photographer. The first ball on Murray was a strike. Collins threw out Murray. NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

RED SOX—Hooper scratched an infield hit, Mathewson being able only to knock down the ball. Hooper stole second. Meyers' throw was wide. Fletcher dropped Yerkes' line drive and the batter was safe. Speaker beat out a bunt, and the bases were filled with none out. Mathewson put the first ball on Lewis over as a strike, the second ball also was a strike. Hooper was forced at the plate on Lewis' grounder to Herzog. Yerkes scored when Gardner was thrown out, Mathewson to Doyle to Merkle. The ball bounded off Mathewson's hand, Lewis and Speaker scored on Stahl's drive to left. Wagner filed to Doyle. THREE RUNS, THREE HITS, ONE ERROR.

Second Inning.

GIANTS—The stands were mad with excitement after Boston took the field. Merkle fanned on three balls pitched. Herzog knocked a three-bagger to right center. Herzog scored on Meyers' hit, which struck Gardner in the face. Gardner rubbed his head and seemed badly shaken, but he continued to play. Fletcher sent up a fly to Hooper. Mathewson got an ovation as he went to the plate. Meyers was out when Yerkes took Mathewson's grounder and threw to Wagner. ONE RUN, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

RED SOX—Carrigan went out, Herzog to Merkle. Doyle made a brilliant play when he took Collins' grounder and threw him out at first. Hooper doubled to right. Yerkes was out, Fletcher to Merkle. NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

Third Innting.

GIANTS—Snodgrass filed to Hooper. Collins used a fast breaking curve over the corners of the plate. His drop ball broke effectively. Doyle fouled to Gardner. Becker went out, Wagner to Stahl. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

RED SOX—Speaker went out to Merkle, unassisted. Merkle knocked down the drive, which was labeled for a two-base hit. Lewis sent up a high one to Murray. Gardner went out, Doyle to Merkle. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Fourth Inning.

GIANTS—Murray got a three-base hit to right. Merkle was out on a foul to Gardner. Murray scored on a sacrifice fly of Herzog to Speaker. Meyers singled to left. Fletcher filed to Hooper. ONE RUN, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

RED SOX—Stahl struck out. Wagner filed to Murray. Fletcher took Carrigan's grounder and threw him out. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Fifth Inning.

GIANTS—Mathewson was pitching in his best form and when he came to the plate the New York fans applauded him. "Big Six" was a strike-out victim, and as Carrigan dropped the third strike, he threw out the pitcher at first. Snodgrass also fanned. Doyle filed to Lewis. NO RUNS, NO HITS NO ERRORS.

From their position under the shelter of the fence at Fenway Park, where they had been waiting all night, more than 400 baseball enthusiasts saw the sun rise over the Back Bay fens. Their object was to get a single admission each to the bleachers—all that would be allowed them—at 31 a ticket.

Too Cold to Sleep.

The night on the ticket line was one of interest. It was too cold to sleep, and those in line could not walk or keep warm, lest they lose their places. Bonfires were lighted, and a few gathered about them and dozed. One man lost his false teeth while he slept and was looking for them at daylight. Another slept on his crutch and broke it, and was forced to hobble about on the shortened staff.

The train on which the players came over from New York did not arrive in Boston until after 1 o'clock this morning having been delayed two hours by a wreck. All breakfasted late and did not try to reach Fenway Park much before noon.

Governor Leads Cheering.

Victors over the Giants in the first contest at New York, the Boston team marched on Fenway Park field to triumphant welcome from [illegible] Gov. Eugene Foss of Mass[illegible] Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston led in the cheering.

The weather was fair and the edge of a sharp westerly breeze was somewhat dulled by the sun. The bleacher and unreserved grand stand crowds came early and long before the game began all the best seats were taken with only a few bare spots near the back fences for the late-comers.

The New York fans freely took the short end of the offered wagers of 10 to 6 that the Bostons would take the series.

The crowd gave its first cheer of the day when Catcher Cady and several of the Red Sox substitutes began batting practice. Manager Stahl complained of feeling ill, but said he probably would take his position at first base.

The sky became overcast an hour or so before the game and it was a good day for speedy pitching.

The Giants wore their regular traveling uniforms of dark gray with black pencil stripes. They began to warm up on the side lines, while Mathewson and Meyers went far down the left field line, where the New York boxman indulged in light pitching practice.

Ten minutes before the game began the four umpires held a conference to decide on ground rules. While the conference was going on Mayor Fitzgerald drove on the field with an automobile which he presented to Tris Speaker.

The "royal rooters," led by a band, marched across the field while Boston was at field practice and took seats in the temporary field stands.

GETS MARRIAGE LICENSE 2 DAYS AFTER DIVORCE

Shoe Factory Foreman Says Former Wife Deserted Him Christmas Day, 1903

Walter J. Twomey, foreman for the Roberts, Johnson & Rand shoe factory in Jerseyville, Friday obtained a divorce from Mrs. Isabelle Twomey, whom he married in St. Louis, Aug. 8, 1903. Monday he came to St. Louis with Miss Hetty Seago, 22 years old, of Jerseyville, and they obtained a license to marry. They had not returned to Jerseyville Wednesday.

Twomey testified in his divorce action that his wife deserted him on Christmas day of the year in which they were married. He said he didn't know where she could be found, but that he last heard of her at Dixon, Ill. He said they had one child, but it died.

Twomey obtained a license in St. Louis, Aug. 8, 1903, to marry Miss Isabelle Bogue of Dixon, Ill. The marriage was solemnized the same day by the Rev. R. E. McKeown, assistant pastor of St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church.

Sidelights On the Big Game

FENWAY PARK, BOSTON, Aug. 9.

When "Smokey Joe" Wood, who pitched the Red Sox to victory yesterday, appeared on the field for practice, he was greeted by a wave of applause.

The crowd was in great humor and in the bleachers there was considerable throwing of paper which was taken by the victims with the best of grace. The Boston rooters arrived at the game just 15 minutes before time was called. They were headed by Mayor Fitzgerald and entered to the tune of "Tessie," the Hub fans' war song. Later they paraded around the field.

Just before 2 o'clock Mayor Fitzgerald drove to the home plate in the automobile which the fans presented to Manager Jake Stahl. A silver-plated hat also was presented to Heine Wagner by the Mayor. The Mayor, Stahl, Wagner and Wood were driven a short distance over the field in the machine.

Gardner was struck by a line drive and the entire Boston infield ran to his side. When he again got into action, the crowd cheered, "Tessie" again being played, and all the fans joining in.

Mayor Fitzgerald threw out the first ball. It landed in Carrigan's mitt. It was a good throw.

The photographers were chased to the roof of the third base bleachers, there being no place for them on the field.

The roofs of the buildings close to the ball park were crowded with fans.

WOMEN CHASE THIEF AND RECOVER MONEY

Man, Hard Pressed, Throws Stolen Half Dollar at Pursuers.

Mrs. Julia Zurwelle, of 3823 McKee avenue, and her next door neighbor, Mrs. Mary Ernst, of 3819, gave a tramp an exciting footrace Wednesday, after he had stolen a quarter and a half-dollar from Mrs. Ernst's kitchen. He got away, but they recovered the money.

Mrs. Zurwelle hired the man to carry coal fro mthe sidewalk to the basement of her home. After making four trips with the bucket, he went to the rear of the Ernst home and Mrs. Zurwelle watched him enter the kitchen door after he had knocked and received no response. He snatched the money from a table.

In tumbling down the back steps the man dropped the quarter. The women chased him through the back yard, down an alley to Vandeventer avenue, south on Vandeventer to Blaine avenue and west several blocks on Blaine. He finally jumped over a high fence and escaped. On Blaine avenue, however, where the women were pressing him hardest, he stopped long enough to turn and throw the half-dollar at them.

ARTIST OTT WOULD GO BACK TO WIFE UNDER CONDITIONS

Ten-Page Answer to Her Divorce Suit Asks That Her Plea for Decree Be Denied.

SAYS SHE WAS NOT KIND

He Declares She Stayed at Dances Until 5 A. M. and Kept House in Disorder.

Another chapter was added Wednesday to the 3000-year-old romance of the "reincarnated" Princess Amneris of Egypt, now Mrs. Jane Schaufert Ott, and her "reincarnated" husband, Ralph Chesley Ott, once an artisan in the domain of her father, the stern Pharoah Khufu, later a $10,000 a year artist for the E. G. Lewis Academy in University City and now an independent painter working at the home of his modern parents at Springfield, Mo.

The latest jolt to Mrs. Ott's theory that Isis, the ancient Egyptian goddess, had been on the job through the centuries to guard the happiness of the Princess and her artisan, is a ten-page, typewritten answer to the divorce suit filed by Mrs. Ott last August. It was prepared by Ott's attorney, Douglas W. Robert, and filed Wednesday.

Ott makes no reference to having met the Princess Amneris at the Great Pyramid, 3983 B. C., but he denies in detail the allegations in Mrs. Ott's petition. He does not ask a decree or the custody of the two children, Mary Jane Ott, 22 months old, and Arcea Elizabeth Ott, 1 year old, who are with him at Springfield. He merely asks the court to deny Mrs. Ott's suit and says he is willing to live with her again on certain conditions.

Says Wife Was Not Kind.

In his answer Ott alleges his wife was not kind and affectionate toward him, that from the beginning of their married life she refused to spend an evening alone with him and that she neglected the children and permitted her house to fall into a "disordered and unsanitary condition."

He denies her charges that he sometimes went home intoxicated and retired without undressing, used insulting language to her, neglected his duties as a husband, accused her of improper conduct with other men or struck her with a coffee percolator which was filled with hot coffee.

On the other hand, he accuses Mrs. Ott of having refused to stay at home and attend to him when he was ill and of having on two occasions gone to dances and remained away until 5 a. m., leaving him alone with the children. His habit of lying fully dressed on the bed while awaiting her return from numerous evenings out is the basis of her allegation that he went to bed with his clothes on, he asserts.

The Otts were married Feb. 5, 1910, and Mrs. Ott alleges in her petition that Ott became so intoxicated the following night at her parents' home that he had to spend the night there. Ott explains that in his answer by saying that Mrs. Schaufert gave them a wedding supper and served beer and wine, of which Mrs. Ott and all the guests partook. The supper lasted until 2 a. m., he says, and as he had to go to work the next day and understood that he and his wife were to spend the night there, he retired at that hour.

WILL DECIDE FATE OF BONDS FOR FREE BRIDGE

House of Delegates Refuses to Delay Decision on November Submission Question.

The House of Delegates at its meeting Friday will decide whether to submit at the November election the proposal to vote bonds for the completion of the free bridge, having postponed the matter from Tuesday's session because advocates of the bonds feared that they did not have sufficient members present who were friendly to it.

The House refused a request from the Central Trade and Labor Union for a public hearing on the question, Delegate Lawton declaring that the matter must be determined not later than Friday night and that the request for a public hearing looked to him like an attempt to delay action until too late for submission.

The labor organization fought the bonds when submitted at a special election.

McKinley said the "Taft family," comprising Charles P. Taft, Henry W. Taft and Horace Taft, brothers of the President, gave $150,000.

The other chief contributors, with the amounts as given by McKinley, were: John Hays Hammond, $25,000; Andrew Carnegie, $25,000; E. T. Stotesbury, Philadelphia, $25,000; "Mr. Kelsey" and "Mr. Patton" of New York, "friends of the President," $12,000; Richard Kerens, St. Louis, Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, $5000; Senator W. Murray Crane, $5000; Secretary Knox, $2500; Attorney-General Wickersham, $1000; former Senator Nathan B. Scott, $1000; A. C. James, $1000.

LITTLE SPENT ON TAFT, SAYS STIFEL

Declares Pre-Convention Campaign in Missouri Cost Less Than $20,000.

Otto F. Stifel, who had a leading part in directing the Taft pre-convention campaign in Missouri, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that his recollection was that less than $20,000 was spent in this State.

Dispatches from Washington quoted Congressman William B. McKinley as testifying before the Senate Investigating Committee that Stifel could tell the sources of money contributed in Missouri and the purposes for which it was spent.

"My recollection," said Stifel, "is that between $16,000 and $17,000 was raised by business men in St. Louis. I do not know who were the contributors. In addition to this I believe $2500 was received from the National Committee.

"This money was used all over the State for organization work in holding conventions and in sending out literature.

"I am only giving these figures from memory, but am convinced that when I get time to look up my records I will find that I am about right. I know the amount spent in this State was very small."

FARMER KILLS HIMSELF; FOUND DEAD BY HIS SON

Man Living Near St. Charles Was in Good Health, His Wife and Children Say.

Henry Broeker, 45 years old, residing with his wife and several children on a farm near Orchard Farm, eight miles north of St. Charles, killed himself by drinking carbolic acid Tuesday evening. A son found him dead in a bedroom at 9 p. m.

Broeker was in good health and had no financial difficulties, the family said. Broeker was in St. Charles Tuesday and some of his friends in town said he was drinking to excess. An inquest resulted in a verdict of suicide.

Son Says A. B. Cole Stole Wife's Love; to Seek a Divorce

estate, continued Mrs. Cole, all the heirs except her husband received $110 a month. Now, she said, some of the heirs receive nothing from the estate, and Cole is paying their allowances out of his own pocket.

She related that her husband fell into trouble with the St. Louis County authorities two years ago, but was protected by his father's influence. That influence being now withdrawn, she asserted, the county constables are again seeking him. She said she did not know his whereabouts.

"I won't tell what the trouble was," declared Mrs. Cole. "Only the Amedee Cole family, the Walker family and the family injured know about it.

"I am not contemplating a divorce suit. John and I are not really separated, we are just estranged. Maybe when this family feud is ended John will wish to change his mind about some things. But if there is any peace offering it must come from him. He couldn't bring suit for divorce against me, for he has no grounds. I shall devote my life to my son, Amadee Jackson Cole."

Child Is Under Guard.

Mrs. Cole said that the boy is attending school in Joplin, but at what school she preferred not say, as she feared an attempt might be made to kidnap him. A girl takes him to and from school and guards him closely.

Mrs. Cole said she had known Mrs. Burt, wife of the motorman who accused Amadee Cole of "ruining his home," ever since she (Mrs. Cole) married into her husband's family, and had received gifts of painted china from her. She said that Mrs. Amadee Cole had known Mrs. Burt before her marriage and had confidence in her.

Mrs. John Cole and her young son are with the young woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Walker of 2222 Joplin street. They accompanied Walker here from St. Louis following the completion of arrangements to have suit filed for $50,000 damages, against Ernest Cole, an uncle of Mrs. Cole's husband.

Walker runs a grocery in South Joplin. He says he learned some time ago that Ernest H. Cole was talking about his daughter. Walker says he made all arrangements to have a suit filed, charging slander, and he cannot understand why a suit for alienation of affections should have been brought.

Believing his daughter needed his assistance, Walker lost no time in going to St. Louis, when he heard that her character was being assailed. Since returning with her to his home, he has guarded her closely.

"There has been no alienation of affection that I know of," he said. "The suit was not first considered on those grounds. Dorothy is here with 'Andy,' and we do not know or care where her husband is. We are not worrying about him, and I might add, there would be no grievance if his affections have been alienated.

"Concerning the proposed suit of John Cole against his father, that is a separate business matter."

WILL SUE FATHER FOR $100,000

John Jackson Cole declared Wednesday that he would sue his father, Amedee B. Cole, for $100,000 damages on the allegation that the father alienated the affections of Dorothy Walker Cole, the son's wife.

He said the suit for alienation of his affections, filed Tuesday by his wife against his uncle, Ernest H. Cole, was simply an effort on the part of "Amedee," as he called his father, to forestall his suit.

Young Mrs. Cole, plaintiff in the first alienation suit, is at the home of her father, W. H. Walker, in Joplin. Her little son is with her. Walker told a Post-Dispatch correspondent in Joplin that the suit against Ernest H. Cole was intended to be a slander suit, and that he was surprised to learn that alienation of affections was the allegation.

Husband to Seek Divorce.

John Jackson Cole said that, with his intended suit against his father, he would also file suit for divorce. John Lally has been engaged as his lawyer.

In his statement, he admitted the charge of Arthur N. Sager, attorney for Amedee B. Cole and for Mrs. John Jackson Cole, that the restaurant scene in which Amedee Cole figured with a motorman's wife was brought about purposely. He also admitted Sager's charge that he had made a demand on his father for $25,000 and an income of $200 a month.

"Mother Against Him."

"It was because of Amedee's intrusion in my home that my wife and I now are separated," said Cole. "My mother and her millions are arrayed against me in this and I am battling alone, but I feel that I have been wronged and I want it known.

"I went to Arthur N. Sager, Amedee's attorney, and told him I wanted a divorce and $25,000 and $200 a month. I was given to understand that this would be done, but instead of this my wife's suit is filed to head me off in a suit in which I threatened to expose the whole affair.

"It was I who arranged for Marion G. Burt, a motorman, to surprise Amedee B. Cole and Mrs. Burt together in a Washington avenue cafe on Sept. 7 ast. My wife and our child have lately been staying at Amedee Cole's home.

"I am now absolutely "broke" and am keeping my whereabouts a secret."

His Parents Opposed Marriage.

Young Cole and Miss Walker were married in Joplin, July 4, 1905, and the marriage caused an estrangement between him and his parents. Later there was a reconciliation, and the young couple went to live at Amedee Cole's country place, and Amedee Cole got his son a position in East St. Louis.

He said that last August his father went to East St. Louis and sent his wife and child to Joplin. He went to the home of his uncle, Ernest H. Cole.

In her alienation suit, young Mrs. Cole charges that last March Ernest H. Cole caused his nephew to abandon her, and has since harbored him at his home. The petition did not state the means by which the uncle persuaded young Cole to break his family ties, but the young wife's father says that stories which were told about her caused the separation.

Ernest H. Cole said Tuesday that he had not seen his nephew for 11 days. He refused to discuss the allegations of the suit. Amedee B. Cole refused to be seen at his Lindell boulevard home.

Torchlight Procession to Mark Presence of Democratic Nominee in the City.

ARRIVES HERE AT 4 P. M.

Route Downtown Will Give Opportunity to See Him Before His Speech.

Preparations for the reception and demonstration in honor of Woodrow Wilson, Democratic candidate for President, Wednesday afternoon and evening have been completed. The leading spectacular feature will be the big torchlight parade, in which voters from every ward are expected to take part.

Gov. Wilson will arrive in St. Louis at 4 p. m. and will dine at the Jefferson Hotel at 6:30 p. m. as the guest of the Democratic editors of Missouri. While this dinner is in progress the torchlight paraders will be assembling.

The parade will be divided into two sections, the first comprising wards one to sixteen, and the second including wards 17 to 28.

Parade to Move at 8 P. M.

Marchers of the first division will form in line at Twelfth and Locust streets and those of the second division at Jefferson avenue and Locust street. At 8 p. m., the first division will march west on Locust street and join the second at Jefferson avenue.

From that point the route of the torchlight procession through the West End will be west on Locust street to Channing avenue, south to Lindell avenue, west to Grand avenue, north to Washington avenue and east to the Coliseum, arriving there at 9:30 p. m.

The paraders will march through the Coliseum and be reviewed by Gov. Wilson. There will be accomodations for about half of them to remain and hear his speech. The others will pass out through the Washington avenue exits and lend light and color to the overflow meeting which will be held in front of the big building.

On his arrival in St. Louis Gov. Wilson will be met by a Reception Committee of prominent Democrats. He will take an automobile at the Twentieth street entrance of Union Station, and will be driven north on Nineteenth street to Washington avenue, east to High street, north to Franklin avenue, east to Broadway, south to Olive street, west to Ninth and north to Locust street, where he will enter the City Club, and make a short address. From there he will go to East St. Louis and speak at the city hall. It is expected that he will speak about half an hour at the editors' dinner at the Jefferson Hotel.

Will Go to Chicago Next.

After his speech at the Coliseum Gov. Wilson will depart for Chicago at 11:35 p. m.

Arrangements for the reception and parade are under the direction of Edward F. Goltra, Democratic National Committeeman for Missouri.

Nurse Dowd Says: "Blessing for the Aged"

During many years' experience she has always found this great medicine wonderfully efficient.

She writes: "I am a nurse and wish to tell you what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has done for some of my older patients. The lady I am caring for at present is in her 98th year, and we owe it all to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. When she was 87 years old she had a very hard spell of sickness, and but for this medicine she would have died. I nursed another lady, 94 years old, where the medicine did her so much good, she would not do without it. One old lady, 96 years old, said she attributed her good health to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and she is never without a bottle of it.

For my practice I prefer Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey to any other and I want people to know what a blessing it is, especially to the aged.—Kate Dowd, Clinton, Conn.

Welcome to St. Louis!

GOV. WOODROW WILSON.

Gov. Wilson's Famous Limerick.

FOR beauty I am not a star;
Others are handsomer far;
But my face I don't mind it.
For I am behind it;
It's the people in front that I jar.

Great Crowd at Illinois Fair to Hear Gov. Wilson

he was very tired and would have to have as much rest as possible to get through with the remainder of his schedule. In the special cars when they left Kansas City were Elliott W. Major, Democratic candidate for Governor, William S. Cowherd. Speaker Champ Clark was to have gone along, but got caught in the jam at Convention Hall in Kansas City and missed the special. His absence was noted soon after the train pulled out.

His Kansas City Speech.

In his speech at Kansas City Gov. Wilson said: "I think there is nothing the Democrats ought to be prouder of at the present moment than the extraordinary unity and solidity of their great forces. I don't wonder that when they see great rallyings like this, they take heart to believe that a great conquest is in store for the Democratic hosts."

"Men must keep their eyes open, open to the future, comprehending the present duties and correct those things that are wrong, desiring to see that each generation as it comes onto the stage, may come with a new hope and a revived courage. So that the great Democracy, now for the first time in our generation, is going to have a chance to show whether it can return the government to the people, for this is the enterprise towards which, time out of mind, the great Democratic party has been devoted. Ever since the great Jefferson spoke the immortal truths which are the foundation stones of our doctrine this party has devoted itself with singleness of heart, through adversity of the most prolonged sort, to that cause which lies dear to every man's heart, which is upon every man's lip, but which only some serve, in season and out of season. I mean the cause of the common people of the United States.

Not for Privileged Few.

"For when I look forward to the future of the United States, I know that it is not going to be framed by the chosen and privileged few, but that in proportion as the great mass of people in the United States are hopeful and happy and have their ambitions realized, so is America to be great, so is America to realize the great ambitions of achievement which have always lifted her high to the view of the envious world.

"Now, I, for my part, cannot dream of any doubt as to the choice the American people will make, when it is clear cut in their consciences that they are now choosing between two paths. Shall they live under the old regime of freedom of enterprise, or shall they live under the new regime of enthroned, though regulated, monopoly? You cannot use monopoly in order to serve a free people. You cannot use great combinations of capital to be pitiful and righteous and just. The judgments of justice, the standards of righteousness arise out of the consciences of great bodies of men enlisted, not in the promotion of special privileges, but in the realization of human right.

Roosevelt View Unchanged.

"And when I read these beautiful portions of the program of the third party devoted to the uplift of mankind and see noble men and women attaching themselves to that party in the hope that regulated monopoly may realize these dreams of humanity, I wonder if they have studied the instruments through which they are going to do these things. The man who is leading the third party has not changed this point of view since he was President of the United States. I am not asking him to change it. I am not saying that he has not a perfect right to retain it, but I say that no man who has the point of view with regard to the government of this country which he had when he was President ought to be President again.

Battle Is One of Ideas.

"Therefore, we are fighting out in this thing, not a battle between persons, but a battle between ideas, a battle between non-American and American ideas. For Jefferson did not utter the creed merely of the Democratic party, he uttered the creed of the American people. Because every time you put even stand-pat Republican orators to the test of doctrines they profess to agree with Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson, who agreed with one another, but when it comes to practice, they forget their doctrine. And I insist that the prestige, the greatness, the dignity of the Democratic party consists in this: That it has always tried to match its practice with its principles."

MAN LOSES REASON BEFORE HE'S SAVED FROM QUICKSAND

Sinks Up to Neck on Bank of Wood River After Rowing Across Stream.

After being rescued from quicksand in which he sank to his chin, E. C. Anderson, 60 years old, of Chicago, temporarily has lost his reason as a result of his terrifying experience on the west bank of Wood River, 8 miles below Alton Wednesday.

Anderson was rescued by four employes of the Standard Oil Co., which has a large refinery at Wood River.

The fact that a Mississippi River steamboat was expected to land with supplies for the refinery in the early morning hours was both the cause of Anderson's strange plight and the means of saving his life.

Rowed Across River.

At St. John's Hospital at Alton where Anderson is in the observation ward physicians say that his derangement may be only temporary, but that there have been cases where extreme fright have led to permanent weakening of the mind.

From the disconnected statements made by Anderson after his rescue it was gathered that he rowed across Wood River in a skiff in the hope that he would catch the steamboat which was bringing supplies to the refinery and induce the captain to let him work his way to Alton.

Wood River at this point runs parallel to the Mississippi River and only about 300 feet from it. To get to the Mississippi landing it was necessary to cross the smaller river.

Cries for Help.

At the same time Anderson was starting for the landing, James Thompson and George McPherson, employes of the refinery, went to the shore to wait for the freight shipment.

At 1 a. m. they heard agonized cries for help. While they searched with lanterns, the calls became weaker but more frequent.

Walking up the west bank of Wood River, they came upon a strange sight. On the surface of the ground they saw a human head. The face was ashen white, and faint cries for help came from the lips.

Thompson and McPherson jumped into a skiff and rowed close to the engulfed man.

Thrusting their hands through the shifting quicksand, they caught him beneath the arms to keep him from sinking further.

Then they called for help and two other Standard Oil men joined them. These got into another skiff. At risk of swamping the boats and being engulfed by the treacherous sand, the four men pulled and tugged and used oars for levers. At the end of half an hour they extricated Anderson and pulled him into one of the boats.

After giving his name and saying that he lived at 932 Fifty-first street, Chicago, and was a railroad clerk, Anderson became violent and tried to jump into the river. At the hospital he had a brief lucid interval in which he told of his attempt to get to the Mississippi River to catch the steamboat.

Experience Gained While In the Drug Business

I have been troubled more or less in the last five years with kidney trouble, and from the experience I gained while in the drug business and from different cases where I have sold Swamp-Root with perfect satisfaction to those who purchased it, and as I never had a single complaint regarding the medicine while I was in business, I was in a position to know that it was a great preparation and it did not fail me when I used it myself. It has certainly afforded me great relief at all times that my kidneys have troubled me and I would not be without it. I always recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to my friends, as I believe it to be a medicine of great curative value in the diseases for which you recommend it.

Sincerely,
D. A. KOONCE,
Columbia, Ala.

Personally appeared before me, this 13th of September, 1909, D. A. Koonce, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

QUIT CALOMEL!

Thousands Are Turning From This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute Is Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-oil colored tablet.

The result of 17 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They oil the bowels, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients, as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel. They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. 10c and 25c [illegible]

BULGARIAN KING REPORTED LEADING BALKAN SOLDIERS

Ferdinand Rushing Southward to Join Allies, London Hears; at Same Time It Is Reported Servia and Bulgaria Have Broken Relations With Turkey.

BRITISH OFFICERS CALLED TO SERVICE

They Cannot Play Polo in Los Angeles Becasue of the Balkan Situation, They Cable—Frontier Fighting Continues.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Confirmation of the rupture of diplomatic relations with Turkey by both Bulgaria and Servia has been received in Paris, according to a news agency dispatch from that city.

A Bulgarian force is reported to have crossed the Turkish frontier and King Ferdinand is said to be hurrying southward to take command of the allied Balkan troops.

Paris Hears Bulgaria Has Declared War and Broken Off Relations.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—A strong rumor was current here this morning that Bulgaria had declared war on Turkey but neither the Ottoman embassy nor the Bulgarian legation has reached any confirmation.

The archives of the Bulgarian legation in Constantinople have been handed over to the care of the Russian embassy there, according to a news dispatch. A declaration of war by Bulgaria is believed by the same correspondent to be imminent.

Albanians Promise to Restrain Montenegrin Troops on Frontier.

SALONIKI, Turkey, Oct. 9.—Serious fighting continues between the Turkish and Montenegrin forces on the Montenegrin frontier.

Essad Pasha, the Turkish commander of the force marching to the relief of Scutari, has passed the River Boyana, without encountering opposition.

The Albanians in the frontier district have promised to restrain the Montenegrin troops without help from the Turkish troops.

Bulgarian Note Says Greece and Servia Will Be Consulted.

SOFIA, Oct. 9.—The Bulgarian cabinet, after considering the Russo-Austrian note, issued a semi-official statement today in which it says the Bulgarian ministers have unfortunately failed to find what they expected, namely, precise details of the reforms which the powers have proposed to Turkey and of guarantees for their execution. Before taking any decision on the subject the Bulgarian cabinet will consult the Greek and Servian governments.

Declares Turkey Faces Future With Calm Assurance.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 9.—The Turkish government awaits events with calm assurance, according to Noradundghian Effendi, the Ottoman foreign minister. In an interview given to the Associated Press today he said:

"We face the future with perfect confidence. I should like to point out, however, that the declaration of war by Montenegro was made contrary to the practice adopted by all civilized states. It went against the stipulation of The Hague Convention, of which Montenegro was a signatory.

"In the first place, no attempt was made to seek the good offices of a third party in order to find a means of avoiding a conflict.

"Secondly, the declaration of war did not set forth any real or tangible cause for war.

"Thirdly, Montenegro opened hostilities without granting the usual preliminary delay and actually before the declaration of war was presented to the Porte."

The Turkish government has decided to make a selection from among the Greek vessels detained in Turkish ports and will hold those best suited for military transport purposes and release the others.

KOELN SAYS HE'LL OPPOSE 'HOLD-UP' OF CITY EMPLOYES

Collector to Make Protest Against the Action of Precinct Committees.

ONE PER CENT IS TOLL

Men Told Money Would Be Used for Refreshments and Flowers for Funerals.

City Collector Edmund Koeln, who is also treasurer of the Republican City Central Committee, Wednesday announced that he intended to make a vigorous protest against the action of the precinct committees which have been collecting money from city employes for funds other than that of the City Committee. He said that such action would tend to reduce the amount the city organization could get.

Koeln's protest was announced after he learned of a meeting of city employes of the Sixteenth Ward, of which Congressman L. C. Dyer is the City Committeeman.

It has been the custom of city employes residing in the Sixteenth Ward to contribute one per cent of their monthly salaries throughout the year. The ward fund had recently been at a low ebb, only $22.05 remaining in the treasury. Saturday Deputy Sheriff Rudy Smith called a meeting of the city employes in the ward. The meeting was held at 3400 Park avenue, Saturday night. William Osborne, a deputy in the office of Ferd G. Knittel, Clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, was secretary.

The city employes were told they must pay over one per cent of their salaries. The money, they were told, would be used for refreshments at their meetings, for flowers in the case of the death of any of their number and for such other expenses as arose.

Knittel has recently turned over to Koeln $135, contributed by clerks in his office, to the City Committee fund.

"This collection of money from Knittel's employes is legitimate," said Koeln. "That money will be used for necessary expenses in getting out the vote on election day, but this practice of ward meetings assessing city employes a second time must be stopped. It may make it necessary to go after the nickels and dimes of the little fellows. We have never done that so far. Our lowest contribution has been $2, but we do not want to have to ask the man working on a small salary for any money."

NEW CLOTHING ON CREDIT PLAN TO BE FEATURED.

The Hoyle & Rarick Clothing Co., 810 N. Broadway, encouraged by the success of the new system for selling clothing on credit, with which they have been experimenting, intend to make the system a feature at all H. & R. Co. stores.

The new system permits the complete outfitting of men, women and children without the payment of 1 cent deposit. You can get a complete outfit—a stylish, up-to-the-minute suit, shoes and hat, for $15, or one can go as far beyond this figure as one's circumstances permit on payment of $1 per week, or payments may be made monthly if desired. The St. Louis store at 810 N. Broadway is but one of a large chain of stores throughout the United States controlled by the H. & R. Co. They have an enormous purchasing power which enables them to undersell all competition. Low prices and easy terms has always made this store popular with deserving shoppers and the new system is in line with their policy and aim. "Best goods, lowest prices, easiest terms."

TO KEEP TAB ON SPEEDERS

Chicago Judge to Govern Fines by Autoists' Records.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Persons arrested for automobile speeding will hereafter have their names and addresses entered on cards, which are to be preserved as a record in the municipal court, according to a rule laid down by Municipal Judge Maxwell yesterday.

The object is to keep a history of all cases and a record of former arrests in case a speeder is brought in more times than one. The court pointed out that there is no way of keeping check on offenders brought before him because invariably they claim it is their first offense. Fines in the future will be regulated partially on the defendant's former behavior in the matter of speeding.

MONKEY CHOKES A DOG

Canine Worth $5000 Killed. Warrant Issued for Monkey.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 9.—A fuzzy dog worth $5000 was choked to death yesterday by a pet monkey belonging to Joseph Wimmar, a scrap iron dealer. The dog was a prize Pomeranian and belonged to Robert Garland, a wealthy Councilman.

When Garland let the dog into the yard he saw the monkey on the back fence. As soon as the dog showed interest the monkey went for him, and a hot battle followed. The monkey, though badly cut, finally got a hold on the dog's throat, and it was soon over. Garland got a warrant for Wimmar and his monkey. He will have a hearing today.

The Quickest, Simplest Cough Cure

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home. Saves You $2.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50.

Simple as it is, it gives almost instant relief and usually stops the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, sore lungs, asthma, throat troubles, etc.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly.

Pine is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this recipe have endeared it to thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—ADV.

DEAN DAVIS MADE BISHOP COADJUTOR IN DALLAS DIOCESE

Rector of Cathedral Surprised at Election and Does Not Want to Take Place.

CHOSEN ON 24TH BALLOT

He Declares Post Is Hardly a Promotion, but Acceptance Isn't Compulsory.

Appreciated, but undesired, honors have been thrust upon the Very Rev. Carroll M. Davis, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, by dispatches announcing his election as Bishop Coadjutor for the Episcopal Diocese of Dallas, Tex.

"I haven't heard anything about it," said Dean Davis Wednesday, when asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter if he could confirm the dispatches from Dallas. "I hope the report isn't true. I would hardly consider the appointment a promotion, and, moreover, I do not want to leave St. Louis. Acceptance, however, is not compulsory.

"A friend called me up a while ago and informed me of the report, but it was so unexpected that I told him he must be dreaming. I know the annual diocesan meeting has been in progress at Dallas, but I had no idea such honors were in store for me."

The dispatches say Dean Davis was elected on the twenty-fourth ballot. Dean Moore of St. Matthew's Church in Dallas, leading on 23 and withdrawing when he failed to get the necessary majority.

Dean Davis was born at Campo Seco, Cal., in 1857 and was graduated from the University of California in 1875. He was rector of a church in San Francisco from 1881 until 1887, and has been Dean of Christ Church Cathedral since 1889. He was married in 1897 to Miss Maud Reber, who died six years later. He is a member of the City, Contemporary and Recreation clubs.

THIEF DROPS LOOT FROM ICE AND COAL MAN'S HOME

Watchman Chases Burglar Through Cabanne, Saves an Overcoat.

A burglar got into the home of John C. Muckermann, 6054 West Cabanne place, first vice-president of the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Co., about 1:45 a. m. Wednesday, but fled at the approach of a watchman, leaving his only loot, Muckermann's overcoat, on the lawn. The watchman, William J. Marshall of 6114 Bartmer avenue, chased the thief through a private walk from West Cabanne place to Cates avenue and from there to the Wabash tracks, where he had to give up because of the darkness.

Marshall, on his regular rounds, tried the back door of the Muckermann home and found it locked. As he walked around the house he heard footsteps on the front porch and on arriving there found the front slightly ajar. Then he saw the overcoat on the lawn and made out the form of a man running east about a hundred yards away.

Marshall took up the chase and fired a shot into the air. It only made the burglar increase his speed.

Woman and Children on Way to Parade, Miss It Because of Accident.

A woman and two girls were badly injured and five girls and two boys were shaken up and bruised when a wagon in which they were riding was truck by a Wellston car at Sixteenth and Morgan streets Tuesday evening. In addition to their injuries the occupants of the wagon missed seeing the parade.

DOG BITES MAN ON CHEEK

Attacks Him in Own Hallway, Physicians Fear Rabies.

John Spolger, 52 years old, a machinist of 2200 South Seventh street, was attacked and savagely bitten by a big dog which had taken refuge in the hallway at his home Tuesday. He is in a serious condition at the city hospital.

Spolger said he noticed the dog when he entered the house and waved his hand toward it to drive it out. It sprang at his face and bit him in the left cheek. It was so heavy it knocked him down. Neighbors ran in and the dog escaped. Spolger is being watched for symptoms of rabies.

25 CENT "DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF—ACTS AT ONCE

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which, if not remedied, causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you will say it was the best investment you ever made. Your hair will immediately take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—ADV.

WOMAN QUESTIONS JUDGE'S RIGHT TO TELL HER TO MOVE

Mrs. Burdick Says She Was Not Aggressor in Quarrel Which Caused Order.

KIMMEL EXPLAINS DECREE

Will Give Her the Option of Paying $50 Fine or Going to Workhouse.

Mrs. Josephine Burdick of 2711 Rutger street does not want to move. Judge Kimmel of the Clark Avenue Police Court says she must move, not only out of that house, but also out of the neighborhood, before Oct. 23.

If she fails to obey this mandate of the Court by Oct. 23 she must pay a $50 fine or go to the workhouse.

Mrs. Burdick wants someone to tell her whether a Police Judge has a right to sentence her to move. The charge on which she was found guilty at her trial Tuesday was that she fired three shots at neighbors with whom she quarreled.

She now has only $10 and does not know whether she will have enough money to pay moving expenses within the prescribed two weeks. The house in which she lives is owned by her aunt, who says Mrs. Burdick is a good tenant.

Says She Did Not Start Trouble.

At her home Tuesday afternoon, with her four little children gathered around her, Mrs. Burdick was trying to settle the problem.

"I did not start the trouble and was not the original aggressor in this neighborhood quarrel," she said. "I cannot see why I should be the only one to suffer. To prevent my children from being teased and slapped, I have had to walk to and from school with them.

"My husband is working as a locomotive engineer at Shreveport, La., and I alone am here to protect my children. When I could stand abuse no longer, I fired three shots across the street. Some of my neighbors said I shot at them and had me arrested. No other complaint has ever been made against me.

"This all started when I complained to my aunt that a tenant who lived in the rooms above me was untidy. My aunt told her to move. She still lives in the neighborhood and she has stirred up sentiment against me.

"I can't see what right the Judge has to order me to move. No one can say a word against my character. I am just a hard-working woman and am trying to raise and protect my children.

"My husband, after being out of work for weeks, has just obtained employment down South. I know that when he gets his pay he will send it to me, but I don't know whether he will be paid before the day when the Judge says I must move. I can't see the justice of such a sentence."

Judge Explains His Stand.

Judge Kimmel told a Post-Dispatch reporter that, according to his view, he has a right to order Mrs. Burdick to move.

"She was accused of the serious offense of firing a revolver at her neighbors," he said. "It was for that offense that I fined her $50. It is my duty to see that the peace is preserved in that neighborhood, and in all other parts of the city within my jurisdiction. I believe that if Mrs. Burdick remains there the peace cannot be maintained. Therefore, I have ordered her to move.

"I cannot force Mrs. Burdick to move. I have merely suspended her sentence on condition that she move. I will be strictly within my rights if I revoke that suspension at the end of the time I named in granting it."

PLAYGOERS' GUIDE.

By RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS.

OLYMPIC—"Passers-By." An English comedy of character-types searchingly drawn and set in an interesting story. Admirably played by Charles Cherry and supporting company, with Louis Edgarde as an incorrigible vagrant of the non-criminal variety doing especially good work.

Next week, Mme. Nazimova in "The Marionettes."

CENTURY—Thomas W. Ross in "The Only Son." A drama of love and selfishness, with its effectiveness lessened by a too-obvious appeal for popular approval. Handsomely staged and well presented.

SHUBERT—"The Whirl of Society." Big and handsomely produced musical comedy, with many novel features and catchy songs. Excellently presented by a clever company.

Next week, "Bunty Pulls the Strings."

TRAIN IS HELD UP; ENGINEER MADE TO ASSIST IN ESCAPE

Oklahoma Bandits Take Registered Mail, Then Cut Off the Locomotive.

By Associated Press.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 9.—Train No. 41, westbound on the Rock Island Railroad, was held up between Howe and Wister, Ok., last night, the express safes blown and registered mail taken. The robbers forced the engineer to cut the engine from the train and run up to within 300 yards of the Wister Station, where they got off and ran into a cornfield. They are believed to be in the cornfield yet.

Flagman Halling escaped through the train from the rear while the robbers were at work and ran back to Howe, where he notified the station agent.

A special train from Halley, bearing Sheriff Burnett and seven deputies, was sent to the scene. The agent at Wister reports that the robbers were seen to enter the cornfield but not to leave it. Citizens of Wister were afraid to make an effort at capture.

The train was stopped on a curve in a wooded cut midway between Wister and Howe. The robbers stopped the train by waving a red lantern.

A posse is en route from Halleyville to Wister.

Passengers were not molested. Howe is 25 miles south of Poteau, where a Kansas City Southern train was held up several days ago.

Physicians Agree on Internal Baths

The most enlightened physicians, including many of the greatest specialists, are recommending and prescribing the use of the J. B. L. Cascade, Nature's own Cure for Constipation.

It keeps the lower intestine sweet and clean and eliminates all poisons in the waste which it contains.

Otherwise these poisons are distributed throughout the body; this weakens the whole system, makes us dull and bilious, and even brings on serious complaints.

The J. B. L. Cascade clears the colon of all waste, and is shown by Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, 515 Olive St., 7th and Locust, Broadway and Washington, St. Louis.

St. Paul Man Says It's Exciting, but Unprofitable.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 9.—"Playing one's money on the table and watching the other fellow take it, affording more or less excitement, but no great or lasting profit."

That is the description of a faro game in a complaint filed in the district court here yesterday when Jacob and Helen Skorish of St. Paul brought suit against J. P. Garrity and J. Stearns for the recovery of $1870, alleged to have been lost by Skorish at faro in a game which the two men are accused of conducting here.

CODICIL WAS ON TITANIC

Surrogate Admits Victim's "Last Word" as Lost Instrument.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A codicil to the will of William Augustus Spencer, who was drowned in the Titanic disaster, was admitted to probate yesterday, as a lost instrument, by Surrogate Fowler.

It was shown that the testator was bringing the codicil to America with him, and the extraordinary circumstances, the Surrogate says, exclude the presumption of its destruction by Mr. Spencer. It does not affect the provisions of the will.

Resinol heals itching skin

Baltimore, Md., June 7, 1912.—"My eczema began with an itching and burning, and little red pimples on my face, which itched so it seemed sometimes as though I could dig the skin off. I could not sleep at night. Then it went into my hands. They were red and raw, so painful that I could not wash my dishes. I tried different salves for about three months, but they did me no good, for the eczema spread up the arm to the elbow, and got so bad on the face that I was ashamed to go on the street. I got a jar of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and slept well the first night after using them. Before I had finished the second jar, I was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Annie Myers, 704 E. YEAR'S VACATION EVERY 7 YEARS FOR PROFESSORS

Gift Left Williams College by Francis L. Stetson Makes Innovation Possible.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Oct. 9.—Williams College professors will hereafter get a year's vacation in every seven years, with full pay. Funds for carrying out this arrangement are provided from the income of a gift by Francis Lynde Stetson of New York.

In his annual report, President Garfield says:

"Teaching is often regarded as an easy profession, But the steady pressure under which the teacher labors for nine months of the year is more wearing than intermittent and various demands.

"The college year must, in the nature of the case, be devoted to the classroom. Vacation is reserved for the accomplishment of these tasks which the professor has been compelled to put aside during the academic year, but the summer recess is not long enough. Both teacher and college are gainers, if a year's leave is taken and taken regularly."

BULL MOOSE RIVAL MAKES AN ATTACK UPON ROOSEVELT

Dr. Siebert, Progressive Candidate, in Open Letter to Congressman, Brings 9 Charges.

ENDORSES T. R. LANGUAGE

Says Representative Is Tool of Interests, Who in Congress Has Never Aided Common People.

Congressman Richard Bartholdt, who has been writing an open letter to Col. Roosevelt, has no monopoly of the business of open-letter writing. Dr. August J. C. Siebert, who is running against Bartholdt on the Progressive ticket in the Tenth District, has written an open letter and addressed it to Bartholdt.

"At first," says Dr. Siebert, "I thought the language Col. Roosevelt used against you in his Des Moines speech was very strong—when he called you 'one of the highwaymen.' But since I have made myself acquainted with the facts, I see that his language was more than justified."

List of His Charges.

He then goes on to charge Bartholdt, just as Bartholdt charged Roosevelt, with political offenses—one, two, three, and so on up to nine, as follows:

"First—I charge that you have not done anything in Congress for the common people.

"2. I charge that you are, consciously or unconsciously, the tool of special interests.

"3. I charge you with having basely betrayed Theodore Roosevelt, whom you have called on many occasions formerly your friend.

"4. I charge that you are posing in your utterance against the third term. You have yourself had nine terms, and are seeking the tenth.

"5. I charge that in all your years in Congress you have not done anything for the German-Americans. It was under Taft and during your service in Congress that the reign of terror for immigants on Ellis Island was intensified, and Commissioner Williams, whom Theodore Roosevelt had discharged, was reappointed.

"6. I charge you with being of short memory, as you advocated, at certain periods of your life, methods and means more revolutionary than the recall of judges or of judicial decisions.

"7. I charge you with having received campaign contributions from the brewers of this city.

"Eighth—I charge that you were one of the foremost betrayers of the people at the convention in Chicago.

"Ninth—I charge that you are indifferent to progress, and with having abstained from voting on progressive proposals in Congress."

T. R.'s Work for Peace.

Dr. Siebert also reminded Bartholdt, whose name has been connected with the peace movement, that Roosevelt "has actually done work for peace, in settling the war between Russin and Japan."

Dr. Siebert is speaking at Progressive party rallies almost every night, and is reading his letter to Bartholdt as a part of his speech. He will speak at Kleekamp's Hall, Grand avenue and Arsenal street, Wednesday night.

WOUNDS WIFE, ENDS LIFE AS HOTEL DINERS FLEE

Husband of Guest at Fashionable Vancouver Hostelry Starts Panic With Shots.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 9.—After creating a panic in the crowded dining room of a fashionable hotel here last night by firing two bullets into his wife's arm and two into his own breast, Cleo Loulanger, a young French-Canadian of Montreal, died early today.

Mrs. Boulanger said today she had left her husband because of cruel treatment and that he had followed her from place to place across the continent.

Boulanger entered the dining room shortly before midnight. "I want you to go with me," he shouted, pointing a revolver at his wife, who sat at one of the tables. A moment later he fired four shots and tables were overturned as diners fled from the room. Mrs. Boulanger's condition today was not believed to be serious.

SMART SET CORSETS FOR THE SMART SET

No 54 $5.00

WE have told you that you don't have to pay a big price in order to get a fine Smart Set Corset. Here's an example:

This No. 54 is as fine and stylish a corset as that wonderful and elaborate new No. 101 (shown you last week), at $10.

But No. 54 is simple in construction; so for $5.00 we can give you as fine and shapely and stylish a corset as No. 101 at twice that price.

No. 54 has the peculiarity of giving graceful, rounded curves to even a lean figure; while to a medium form it brings a high degree of slender suppleness. The very long skirt is so flexible that you are comfortable in any position.

No. 54 is a prime favorite in Paris. We doubt if you can find an equally elegant corset, here or in Paris, at less than TWICE five dollars.

Nine Other Models—at $4, $5, $6, $8, $10 and $12

Style-effects never before achieved. Comfort beyond your fondest hopes. Long wear. A perfect fit for every figure. We'll tell you more about "Smart Sets" later. Ask your dealer, and keep on asking until you see them. Send us a postal and we'll send you a catalogue.

WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Sixty-Seven Cents a Month Made Up the Difference.

"You know how club finances run," said Marsh, the treasurer.

"The idea in a small club like ours is to give the member just as much for his dues as is possible and our receipts and expenses are awfully close together.

"Why, last year we had to do some repairing and it was only the interest on our account with the Mississippi Valley that saved my report from showing a deficit.

"The monthly interest credits totaled eight dollars and four cents, and, thanks to them, we came out just two dollars and sixty cents to the good.

"Keeping the club's money in a Mississippi Valley account has always simplified my job as treasurer, but I had hardly realized the importance of a little thing like two per cent interest until it turned our deficit on the year into a surplus."

TEACHER ASSERTS FACT THAT SHE IS JEWESS COST JOB

Miss Marie Haberman Tells of Being Hired and Fired From Hosmer Hall.

PRINCIPAL KEEPS SILENT

Story Is That Young Woman Was Dismissed Day After Being Employed.

The removal of Miss Marie Haberman, daughter of William Haberman of 5567 Waterman avenue, as a teacher at Hosmer Hall, an exclusive school for girls at 4296 Washington avenue, has aroused indignation in Jewish circles.

Miss Haberman says that after being chosen for the position of teacher of penmanship, arithmetic and English over two other applicants, she was removed the following day because she was a Jewess by Miss Louise McNair, principal of the school. Miss McNair refused Wednesday to discuss the case.

"I graduated from the Harris Teachers' College of St. Louis in June," Miss Haberman told a Post-Dispatch reporter, "but did not intend to begin teaching for another year. Miss McNair telephoned to me Sept. 25 that Dr. John W. Withers had recommended me for a position, and asked me to call.

"I visited her that afternoon, and my qualifications seemed to please Miss McNair. She told me, however, that she was considering two other young women, and said she would telephone to me that evening. She did so, and told me that I had made the better impression, and told me to begin my duties the following morning.

"After chapel exercises the next morning, and before I had had one class Miss McNair called me into her office, and said:

"'I neglected to ask you about your religion. You are a Jewess, are you not?'

"I told her that I was, and she then told me that it would be necessary for her to cancel my engagement. She told me that it was not a matter of principle with her, but one of business. She said that if she employed a Jewess as a teacher, she feared many of the girls would leave the school."

Jewish papers have published severe comments on the removal of Miss Haberman and voicing the indignation aroused in Jewish circles.

Tallest Veiled Prophet Crowns the Tiniest Queen

SOCIETY BOWS TO MISS JANE TAYLOR

NEW FEATURES ENLIVEN GREAT FESTIVAL BALL

Costumes More Daring and More Striking Than in Past Seasons at Coliseum.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

THE tallest Prophet and the tiniest Queen—if one event could stand out more vividly than another in the whole glowing spectacle of last night's pageant. Perhaps this fact will serve to distinguish this year's ball.

When the trumpets sounded and the orchestra sent up its most terrific blast and the crowd held its breath and the Queen of Love and Beauty stepped out into that vast lonely void, roped about with silken cords excluding the pressing throng of spectators stretching up to the Prophet's high throne, everybody exclaimed, "Why, she's only a child!"

Such a little person to be the object of curiosity to such eager thousands within the Coliseum and anxious thousands without and over the city.

Height and Figure of Marguerite Clark.

AND Miss June Taylor is slight, scarcely 5 feet tall, about the height and figure of say Miss Marguerite Clark, to select a familiar type for comparison. In her gauzy textured crystal sprinkled little, little gown of the sort you can slip through a ring—swamped in the heavy, brocaded robes, burdened with a bouquet of roses almost as large as herself, she looked frail indeed. But how is it some little persons have a way of looking down upon us taller ones? Miss Taylor has that way.

SHE is little, but Oh my! What she lost in height in comparison to her surroundings she made up in dignity, aye, majesty, of bearing. It was difficult to believe this smiling, chatting self-possessed young woman was lately a convent girl. And the pace she led that tall Prophet—well, doubtless he is some great figure in the city's affairs, as they say His Majesty always is, but I should think he was glad he wore a veil and that his identity was not revealed by the time his diminutive queen had extricated him from all the intricate figures of dance and drill.

Miss Taylor convinced her court of her ability to rule society the forthcoming year as it is written the Prophet's queen must. Perhaps she surprised even herself by the ease and grace with which she acquitted herself, for after the splendid ceremonial was quite over and a tired little queen rolled into a chair in her private dressing room, she told me, "The sensation which impresses me most and surprises me most is that I was not the least bit scared"

Miss Taylor is a ruler not only upon these showy occasions, but in her own home, I understand. Her father related an incident revealing at once the manner in which she holds sway there and an interesting light upon her character.

Mrs. Taylor declared her intention of attending some of the classes in political instruction the women are taking up at Washington University this year," said Judge Taylor. "When Jane heard of it she promptly laid down the law to her mother. 'If you bring any of these new women ideas into this house, I'll leave home!' she said."

MISS JANE TAYLOR....

New Queen Is Dainty of Figure and a Blonde

MISS JANE TAYLOR, queen of the Veiled Prophet's court for the society season of 1912-13, is a recent debutante, and is a blonde, of dainty figure, with gray eyes and a mass of light hair.

She is the daughter of former Judge and Mrs. Daniel G. Taylor of 4967 Berlin avenue, and is a graduate of Maryville Convent. She was in California several months in the past year, following her return from a European tour.

Her gown was of white satin charmeuse, with pannier of white Brussels net, embroidered in silver and crystal. She was presented by the Prophet with a coronation robe of heavy satin, rose-brocaded, with a band or ermine and a lining of white satin brocade.

But perhaps dwelling upon the dignity and composure which marked the young queen's bearing, I am neglecting her girlish friendliness and the joyousness she radiates. Still, everybody knows she couldn't be the daughter of Daniel G. Taylor without possessing these qualities. She only needs fair hair, violet eyes and charmingly petite figure added to her auspicious position assured by her popular parents to make her a belle worth keeping up with the coming social season.

Operatic Program the Newest Feature.

OTHER innovations that mark the progress in the history of the ball were the introduction of elements of the drama and the theater. For the first time there was the presence of the moving picture machines. Then there was the calcium spotlight focused upon the throne and the primma donna, Alma Gluck, who made a real operatic event of the early part of the evening.

Never before were the queen and her retinue kept so busy parading back and forth, and the whole theatrical setting and dramatic timing of scenes was marked. Posing for the moving picture machines as far from being regarded as an intrusion marring the mysticism of the pageant was a concession made in just the right spirit.

AND the crowning climax occurred when, after the royal retinue had left the stage to disport themselves in the dance upon the floor, a number of debutantes with their partners pre-empted the stage and gave an impromptu exhibition of all that is newest in bunny hugs, Texas tommys and the Tango-Orgen-Tangos, brought to town by a celebrated professional dancer recently. It is safe to say the eyes of the teacher of their parents and grandparents, Mr. Mahler, who was at the moment conducting the queen's set through the lanciers, were not upon them. And indeed before news of the performance reached this arbiter of the proprieties, but not before some thousand or more old-fashioned dancers upon the floor had halted to watch these strange new figures of the dance, did unfeeling committeemen request that the performance be called off, or at least toned down.

TWO brides who were objects of interest upon their first public appearance, were Mrs. H. S. Priest and Mrs. Robert Nolker.

Mrs. Nolker, more beautiful than ever, wore a sulphur colored slim satin gown and Mrs. Priest, who sat in a box with Judge Priest's relatives, was in deep purple. A bride-to-be, Miss Vera Galannini, with her fiance, Eugene Angert, held a little court of attention all their own.

TWO V. P. QUEEN'S MAIDS ILL WITH APPENDICITIS

Miss Sadie Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Cox of 4052 Westminster place, was said to be recovering, Wednesday, at St. Luke's Hospital, from the attack of appendicitis which prevented her from attending the Veiled Prophet's ball as a maid of honor, Tuesday night.

Miss Virginia Zeibig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zeibig of 37 Westminster place, who was a maid of honor at last year's ball and had been selected as one of the maids of honor for this year's event, also was stricken with appendicitis Tuesday, it was said in society circles, and was unable to attend the ball. A woman at the Zeibig residence told the Post-Dispatch by telephone Wednesday morning that all the members of the family were out and that she did not know when they would return.

She said she could not make a statement regarding Miss Zeibig's condition. Friends of Miss Zeibig said they understood that her condition was not alarming.

Bitten by Cat, in Critical Condition.

Albert Folker, 10 years old, of 8321 Alabama avenue, is in a dangerous condition, the result of having been bitten by a pet cat. He was bitten on the palm of the right hand. The boy's father drowned the cat and then turned the body over to the City Bacteriologist for analysis.

ST. LOUIS WATER SAVES $146,000 A YEAR IN SOAP

This Amount Is More Than Cost of Maintaining the Purification Plant.

The annual saving to the people of St. Louis in the purchase of soap amounts to more than the total cost of maintaining the purification plant at the waterworks, according to Water Commissioner E. E. Wall in an article recently published in an Eastern trade journal. This saving is due to a reduction in the hardness of the water pumped from the Mississippi River by removing the alkaline deposits before it is distributed through the city mains.

The cost of maintaining the purification plant, which is capable of handling 125,000,000 gallons a day, is aproximately $138,000 a year, and the saving in soap in St. Louis homes amounts to at least $146,000 annually, according to Wall's figures.

In addition to this saving, St. Louis has clear water without extra cost to the taxpayers, the bacteria in the water has been reduced 97½ per cent in the last seven years, and the death rate from typhoid fever has been reduced from 48 in 1000 to 14 in 1000, Wall told a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday.

"According to statistics, the daily consumption of soap in large cities is approximately the amount required to soften one gallon of water per capita," Wall stated. "This would mean a consumption of 14,000 pounds of soap a day. Without the softening treatment 22,000 pounds of soap would be used daily. With soap valued at 5 cents a pound, a low estimate, the saving would more than pay the entire cost of purification for all uses."

MRS. EDDY'S TRUST OF $2,000,000 IS HELD TO BE VOID

Massachusetts Court Overturns Provision for Church Made in Her Will.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—A trust estimated at $2,000,000 created by the will of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, for the benefit of the denomination was declared void by the Massachusetts Supreme Court today.

The court holds, however, that a charitable trust has been created and that new trustees may be appointed to administer it.

HAT IS PASSED TO PAY T. R. CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

MACKINAW CITY, Mich., Oct. 9.—Col. Roosevelt's present tour of the Central States was placed on a self-supporting basis today. It was announced that on the Roosevelt car was a representative of the Progressive Party Financial Bureau, whose duty it is to pass the hat among the people gathered to hear the Colonel at every stop.

The collector reported that $1000 was raised in Detroit yesterday, when the plan was first tried out. Buttons and certificates of membership in the Progressive party are given in return for contributions.

The Colonel invades the upper peninsula of Michigan today.

ALMA GLUCK HEARS THAT SHE IS MARRIED

Singer Laughingly Denies That She Has Brought Suit for Divorce.

Alma Gluck, who sang at the Veiled Prophet ball at the Coliseum Tuesday night and received an ovation there, laughed and clapped her hands when told of a dispatch from New York Wednesday to the effect that she had brought suit for divorce.

"Why, I am surprised to hear that I am married," she said. "Tell me all about it."

When the contents of the dispatch had been made known to her she laughed musically.

"And there's a child, too," she said. "Now isn't that queer. I knew nothing about it. They circulate such queer stories about me. I have never been married. Just print the dispatch if you want to, but be sure to tell what I have to say about it. These things always amuse me so."

LONELY WITHOUT DOG, WOMAN TRIES TO DIE

Mrs. Ada Davis Takes Acid When Pet Is in Hospital, Then Decides She Wants to Live.

Mrs. Ada Davis, 31 years old, 1440 North Garrison avenue, was so lonesome in the absence of her fox terrier, Spot, Tuesday night, that she tried to end her life. The dog had been in a hospital two weeks.

Before swallowing some hydrochloric acid, she wrote a note to her husband, William Davis, a carpenter, simply directing him to "take care of Spot." After she had drunk the poison, however, she changed her mind about dying.

Mrs. Davis at the hospital said she had been in poor health and feared she was afflicted with tuberculosis. She had no children, and the dog helped her to withstand lonesomeness, she explained. Without her pet, existence became dreary, although she declares her husband always has been kind to her.

SURVEYORS MARK ALASKA LINE, TAKE SWIM IN ARCTIC

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Oct. 9.—Thomas Riggs, chief of the United States boundary survey party which completed this year the marking of the line dividing Alaska and Canada, has left here with his party for Seattle.

"We left Seattle April 29, with 36 men and 35 horses," said Riggs. "At Coffee Creek, on the Yukon River, we picked up 42 more horses, which had wintered at the head of the White River, and on May 25 we landed at Rampart House, on the Porcupine River, 65 miles north of the Arctic Circle, where W. F. Reaburn, one of our surveyors, had wintered with five men and had laid out a line of caches as far as the boundary crossing of Old Crow River, so the party could take the field without delay.

"J. D. Craig, chief of the Canadian party, with a similar outfit, had joined us at White Horse, Y. T., and traveled with us to Rampart House, where subparties were sent out. The American and Canadian parties did not work from the same camps, but divided the work. The only exception was a party of six, headed by Mr. Craig and myself, who jointly projected the line. By using Old Crow River as a base, supplies were carried by water within 25 miles of the Arctic Ocean.

"The first party, of which Mr. Craig and I were in charge, reached the Arctic Ocean about the middle of July and the final monument was placed with the ceremony of breaking out flags of the two countries.

"MacPope of Baltimore, a big game hunter, took a moving picture of the scene. Afterward all of us took a plunge in the Arctic, but we did not remain in long.

TRY NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

It Removes Dandruff—Saves the Hair.

Dandruff is what starts most of the hair troubles. It stunts the growth of the hair, deprives it of life and causes it to fall out.

Loss of hair and final baldness, frequently considered inevitable, can both be prevented. Newbro's Herpicide will do it.

Herpicide is the first and original remedy compounded to kill the germ that causes dandruff. It not only checks the accumulation of dandruff, but destroys entirely the tiny microbic growth, which is the worst enemy to good hair.

The intelligent use of Newbro's Herpicide gives new life and luster to the hair and keeps the scalp clean and healthy. The first application is enough to convince you of its value. Herpicide imparts a feeling of [illegible] cooling to the scalp and stops the itching almost instantly. Being free from oil or grease and possessing a delicate and exquisite odor, Herpicide is a delight to ladies of refinement. It does not change the color of the hair a particle.

Give it a trial. The Herpicide Co., Dept. S, Detroit, Mich., will send a sample bottle of Herpicide to any address upon receipt of 10 cents in postage or silver to cover the cost of packing and mailing.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA'S SEASON.

In the season of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, soon to open, nothing of course can take the place of meritorious, satisfying work attesting artistic competency and devotion to musical ideals on the part of the orchestra itself.

Specially engaged soloists, however, serve to embellish the programs and have provided concert features highly appreciated in the past. It happens that this year exceptional opportunities have been presented the management to arrange for the appearance of soloists of prestige credited with a past performance that has won public favor. "No symphony orchestra in the country," runs one statement, "has under engagement as many soloists of distinction this year as the St. Louis orchestra."

The promise of a program unusual for brilliancy and pleasure-giving features is a sufficient incentive for according an even more generous financial support than that accorded to this leading musical organization in former years.

In the case of Mrs. Carrie Dimmitt, the Court of Appeals at Kansas City holds that a wife may justifiably lie to her husband, and of course it follows that husbands may justifiably lie to their wives. It is to be feared the decision will start husbands generally on practices they heretofore have resolutely eschewed.

THE HEART OF A BOY.

Is there any purer love in the world than the love of a boy for his dog? Observant witnesses early Tuesday morning might have seen several grown men on an Olive street car with moist eyes—or perhaps did the moisture slightly well over and trickle down?—through their sympathy with a small boy whose dog had been run over. When the car abruptly stopped men looked up from their newspapers to see what was the matter. The next instant they heard the cries of the little lad, who was standing upon the sidewalk before a doorway, clasping his mother's waist and sobbing, "Oh, my poor little dog! My dear little dog!"

It was only a cur whose carcass lay beside the track—a soiled white and yellow denizen of the gutter that only a small boy could love. Yet there was not a man on the car who, as he looked out on the shabby thing whose tail would wag no more, did not love it as only a boy could love. The car promptly moved on, and the noise of the wheels drowned the anguish of the lad—but his cries echoed a long time in the thoughts and the feelings of the men who heard them—"Oh, my poor little dog!"

There is a great big heart in this old world, and it never beats more truly, it never beats more nobly, than when it throbs with the pure emotion of the little child.

Once more we rise to remark, and our language is plain, the V. P. men's dancing gives one a pain.

UNCLE SAM AT BAT.

We may not have a national anthem, but we have a national game. Instead of revolving on its axis today the earth is pivoting on the Boston Fenway grounds, nor will it resume normal obedience to the law of universal gravity until the test of prowess between the Giants and Red Sox is concluded.

Meanwhile everything else has lost its proportions. The war in the Balkans is a hopeless abstraction. The presidential campaign dwindles. Whether Sulzer can carry New York is nothing to the question, Can Boston carry New York? Runs mean more than votes in the Electoral College, and tickets to reserved seats in the grandstand are the only tickets worth mentioning.

The Clapp inquiry recedes. What a puny and pathetic lot of stars are the witnesses, Morgan, Sheldon, Perkins, Cortelyou, Roosevelt, contrasted with the mighty Wood, the great Mathewson, the valorous Wagner, Meyers, Herzog, Stahl! Umpires Klem, Evans, Rigler and O'Loughlin momentarily tower above the Supreme Court. Who could even repeat the names of the Chief Justice and the Associate Justices in this mad hour?

We all know who Speaker is—how truly magnificient the center fielder of the Bostons! But does anybody recall the Speaker of the House of Representatives? Everybody knows who is the left fielder of the Giants, but can anybody name off-hand the Vice-President of the United States? By the way, is Mr. Taft still President? For the present his principal importance is as a rooter for the Red Sox. Baseball is a leveler of distinctions and the great are just spectators with the small. Or is it truer to say this is become for the time being a nation of small boys, millions with but a single thought and hearts that beat as one?

Certainly there is no other occasion in time of peace when American hearts more nearly beat in unison. In the enthusiasm over the national game and the championship series, North and South are brothers, Democrats and Prohibitionists forget fundamental differences, plutocrat and popocrat fall on each other's necks, Bull Moose and regulars embrace and dance for joy. It is as if Uncle Sam were at bat and all his nephews cheered. And if baseball be the food of patriotism, let Uncle Sam play on!

GOV. WILSON'S VISIT.

For several reasons Gov. Wilson's first visit to St. Louis as a presidential candidate arouses widespread and deep interest beyond the confines of his own party.

One reason is that Gov. Wilson is an extraordinary man. Few men in American public life have been his equal in intellectual equipment for solid statesmanship. A profound student of history and the science of politics, he is an authority on both subjects. He has a thorough understanding of the principles and the methods of American government. His practical experience in revolutionizing the politics and the administration of New Jersey has given him a comprehensive insight and grasp of actual political methods and governmental problems of the present day.

Leaving the presidency of Princeton University to become the Democratic candidate for Governor against an opposition vote that seemed overwhelming he won by sheer force of intellect and character.

He quickly mastered the political problems of the State and presented them to the people with singular simplicity, clarity and force. His convincing presentations of his cause to the plain people—the farmers and wage-earners—salted with mellow humor and homely illustration, were models of their kind. In office he smashed the corrupt machine of his own party and against an opposition majority in the State Senate forced the adoption of the comprehensive program of reform to which he was pledged. His strongest weapon was his appeal to public opinion.

The Baltimore convention which brought him into the national field as the leader of the reorganized Democracy is recent history. His leadership came as the logical result of his record, capacity, courage and unswerving fidelity to principle.

Gov. Wilson's speeches possess unique interest and value. In this crisis of Democracy when political thought is chaotic and many men have lost their bearings in the conflict of radical reforms and violent discussion, we need sound and clear definition of fundamental American principles and their wise application to new political and economic conditions. Gov. Wilson is thoroughly equipped for this work and he is doing it with vigor but with a dignity and a dispassionate sincerity far removed from the intemperate and denunciatory clamor of the spellbinder and the slangwhanger. He is defining Democracy as it has not been defined, at least since Tilden, and he is applying it to modern problems and aspirations with open mind, broad sympathy and progressive understanding. He is pointing out what should be permanent and what may safely be changed in representative government. He is re-laying the anchors of constitutional liberty.

Not only the substance but the form of Gov. Wilson's utterances make them unusually interesting. Although not at all a spectacular orator he is a captivating speaker. He has a rare gift of expression. He unfolds his subject with an illumination of thought and illustration, an aptness of wording and phrasing and a logical force which make his speeches a delight.

But aside from the man and his career a great interest attaches to Gov. Wilson's campaign because large elements of the people are seeking light. The regeneration of the Democratic party and the split in the Republican party have turned a multitude of voters adrift from party moorings. They are eagerly seeking light.

Whether they agree with him or not these independent voters cannot rise from the hearing or reading of a Wilson speech without enlightenment on the vital issues concerning which every American should be informed.

Mr. Munsey's Baltimore News has a "social justice" editorial addressed to "Those who take an interest in humanity." Is this an admission that more than one person in this country, and that a very eminent person, has an interest in humanity?

MR. MacVEAGH NOT ALONE.

I believe campaign contributions to be degrading to the giver and to the receiver, though I seem to stand alone in my opinion —Wayne MacVeagh.

The indifference, as receivers, of Republican presidents in the past and present to the degrading effects of the huge corporation contributions Mr. MacVeagh had in mind, will be one of the facts on which history will dwell with sorrow and amazement. But if Mr. MacVeagh once felt that he stood alone in his opinion, how can he think so now? The country is practically of one mind on the subject at present. It would have been of one mind in the past but for the secrecy surrounding the interchange of governmental favors and campaign contributions.

Mr. Bryan fully deserved the compliment Gov. Wilson paid him. This year Mr. Bryan has risen to the plane of a great man who devotes himself to the public service without expectation of personal gain.

DEPEW TELLS A GOOD ONE.

At last Chauncey M. Depew has told a funny story. We quote from his solemn testimony Tuesday before the campaign fund investigating committee:

"Just before election Twombly told me the funds were $40,000 short and that he was making up the difference. He needed $17,000 and he assessed me that amount. I gave him a check for it."

He went on soberly to relate that after his election he was summoned by President Roosevelt to discuss New York appointments, and took occasion to thank the President for offering him the Ambassadorship to France, whereupon the President expressed surprise.

We come now to the really funny part of the story, quoting the Honorable's own words for the full effect:

"I told him that I had been offered the Ambassadorship if I would withdraw from the race for the Senate. He replied that not only had he never made such an offer, but that if I had withdrawn I would not have gotten the Ambassadorship, because he had another man in view."

The Senator thought he had been offered the Ambassadorship, but when he came up against the Real Thing and the Source of Truth at Washington he found that he had been dreaming about it. He only knew that he had given the money. In all his laborious post-prandial experience Mr. Depew has never related such a genuinely good joke on himself.

For Montenegro to declare war is about the same as if Indianapolis should attempt to fight the Turkish Empire, the population of the American city and the Balkan state being about the same. But then the Transvaal and Orange Free State, with a total population about the same as New Orleans' at present, kept the whole British Empire anxiously busy for nearly three years.

Though we are often told one of Lincoln's parents could not read or write and the other could read but not write, they seem to have owned a dictionary, if a relic just added to Missouri historical archives is genuine.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Party Assessment of Public Servants.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The latest outrage on common decency is the Joy assessment on the many hard-working employes in his office whose families are depending on their honest earnings for the necessaries of life and which is muleted from them in order to place people in office and maintain a boss system their conscience revolts against.

Those in authority ought, in justice to those working people, compel Joy to return that money forthwith, and in the future a law ought to be placed on the statute books making it a jail sentence for any man to mulct his employes for any political machine, and the man who would permit himself to be mulcted ought to be fired on general principles, as too servile to be called a man.

THE ALDERMAN.

Auto Dangers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Massachusetts decision that a pedestrian is not bound to be on the lookout to see if autos are approaching, and the like decision by the Kansas City Court of Appeals have been overlooked by the St. Louis grand jury. Is the grand jury a "constant reader?" PEDESTRIAN.

Increase in Suburban R. R. Fares.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Referring to your editorial of Oct. 2 in regard to Frisco and Missouri Pacific raising suburban rates: I understand from the Railroad and Warehouse Commission that railroads are required to give 20 days notice of increase in rates—Sec. 2123 R. S., 1909—and that they are subject to a fine of $500 for not complying with this provision. At Shrewsbury Park they gave no notice whatever—the agent himself did not know of the increase until the morning of Oct. 1, when the change went into effect.

The Frisco has evidently shown very little regard for the law, and the Post-Dispatch might get in a little good work by bringing the matter before the public. If public sentiment were aroused a little, the Prosecuting Attorney might wake up and do his duty. L. J. LYONS.

The Wonderful Aztec Bean.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Another indication of the powerful influence of your great newspaper: Over 1000 inquiries have been received to date from a description of the discovery of the Aztec bean, published in your "Sunday" Sept. 22. They are still coming in.

I cannot supply all these folks for 30 days and have so advised all of them as per card inclosed. Am sending you a few culls, the pickings of immature beans from the 1912 crop, which will be exhibited in Canada and Phoenix, Ariz. When I begin to supply your inquirers, I will send you a few for exhibition.

This is valuable publicity and merits our thanks and appreciation. MALCOLM A. FRASER,
Secretary Prescott Chamber of Commerce, Prescott, Ariz.

The Single Tax Amendment.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

He said that the farmers in Western Canada were only tenants of the State and had not bought their land out and from the State as the land owners of Missouri have done. This statement is not correct. There is absolutely no difference in the system of land tenure in Western Canada from that prevailing in Missouri. The State sells the land to the settler just the same as our Government does. The only difference is that the Canadian Government allows the settler 40 years in which to pay for it, and the small payments are spread out over that time. But if the settler desires he can pay up at any time and become the full owner of the land. The mere fact that the Government allows the settler easy terms of payment does not make him a tenant.

The state of Texas sells its school lands in the same way, and allows the purchaser to pay for them in small payments spread over 40 years, but at the end of that time in both cases they become the full owners of the land. (I myself have bought land in Alberta and made a profit on it after the adoption of the same kind of taxation as we propose, and, therefore, speak from actual experience.)

Mr. Falloon's assertion that the purpose of the tax amendment in Missouri is community ownership of land is also erroneous. There is nothing whatever in the words of the amendment to warrant any such conclusion, and it is, therefore, not a side issue for us to show by numberless actual illustrations that this amendment will not have the effect that Mr. Falloon, and the Land Owners' Protective Association says it will have.

We have made an abstract of all the tax bills of St. Louis, numbering nearly 100,000, and have shown conclusively that in the overwhelming majority of cases (over 87 per cent) the home owners and owners of improved property, will have their taxes reduced by the operation of this amendment. In addition to this, we have worked out several counties in the State, and have shown that the farmers as a class will have their taxes reduced. We have also taken several townships in different parts of the State and worked out minutely how it would affect every individual taxpayer, and have shown in every one of the above cases that this amendment does not do what Mr. Falloon says it will.

We do not think, therefore, that it is a side issue not germane to the issue, to show this, on the contrary we believe that every unprejudiced person will see that it is the only issue involved in this amendment and that it sustains our claim.

ANOTHER CONVERT.

Old Mother Hubbard
Went to the cupboard
To get her poor dog a bone,
But when she got there
The cupboard was bare,
And so the poor dog had none.

To make sure, she went all through the cupboard again.
"At last!" she exclaimed.
Father Hubbard looked up.
"What is it?" he asked.
Mother Hubbard dropped into a rocker, and folded her hands in the manner of one giving up.
"There is no bone for the dog!"

Old Father Hubbard
Looked at the cupboard
And fingered his battered hat.
"Not even a bone?"
He asked with a groan.
"That makes me a Democrat!"

"I wish I could vote!" Mother Hubbard exclaimed.
There was undisguised amusement in her husband's eyes.
"I thought you didn't believe in votes for women!" he said.
Mother Hubbard stroked the poor dog on the head.
"I was never before brought face to face with the necessity for it," she answered.

KEEP OUT.

Mr. Gerald Hamilton, editor of the Star and Herald at Panama City, was in St. Louis this week.

Mr. Hamilton told me something about the San Blas Indians, who are the most exclusive primitive people. The San Blas occupy the Atlantic coast betwen Colon and Colombia. They are not thought to be very numerous, probably four or five thousand, but nevertheless hold their country against all comers, and have been doing so for hundreds of years. Once a year the San Blas chiefs visit the executive mansion at Panama City and render homage to the President of the Panamanian Republic. They then withdraw to their mountain fastnesses, and if the Government attempts communication of any sort with them, the messenger is turned back at the border.

The San Blas, according to Mr. Hamilton, are without any racial admixture whatever, and mean to keep their blood pure if they have to shed it. They buy modern fire arms, practice shooting and admit nobody. Their chiefs very frankly say that they are better men than the half-breeds about them, and if the whites don't think so, all they have to do is to come up with one of the half-breed Central American armies and try to get in.

THE MUSE IN THE MARKET PLACE.

While yet the dews of morning spun
Their splendors from the rose and grass,
I travel'd through the marts of trade,
Where huckster clangors, vibrant pass;
Where chaffer of the bargainers,
The haggling bawls, blatant and keen,
Crying their bawbles to the world,
Unctuous as a fishwife queen.

Bespread thro' musky stalls I found
Rare artifices from all the earth,
The chasings and the draperies
That cunning craft had given birth;
Each huxter call'd afar, "Come, buy!"
Of Tyrian dyes and trinkets rare,
Rich vestures wove from thread of gold
And purples that a prince might wear.

O'er cobble ways, with lancing oaths,
Mad cattle rangers plied the throng
To meek, dumb brutes to shamble sped,
By brother brutes were whipp'd along;
The golden fruits, the ruddy wines,
The silken weaves, the Orient vase—
Each cried his gauds to passer-by
From out the noisy market place.

Anon, the angry sun fell low
And cast cool shadows o'er the mart,
I noted one who dream'd all day
And in the traffic took no part;
I saw queens pass his stall, and kings
And emperors with crowns array'd,
Took of his wares—nor guerdon gave
Into his hand—nor farthing paid!

I wondered much, for he was wan,
And hunger spoke his poverty,
While wastage scor'd his pallid face
Deep with the scrolls of penury;
He bawled not with the mountebanks
For barter, with their honey'd cries,
But sang serene a hymn of love,
Or croon'd him low, sweet lullabies.

Song was his ware and all the throng
Thiev'd freely from his jewel's store,
Unguarded, all the filching host
Took of his wares—nor paid their score.
Purples shall fade, the wines shall mold,
Decay shall stain the ermine's gauge,
The singers' dust be aye forgot—
His artifice, know deathless age!

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

HEALTH HINTS.

S. W. P.—Portland cement is not poisonous. The dust may affect you more or less, but we do not think it is the cause of your trouble.

LOUIS.—Moist hands may be caused by nervousness, but whatever the cause, a solution of borax in a little alcohol, rubbed over the palms of the hands occasionally, will give temporary relief. Women sewing keep a sponge saturated with the solution at hand and occasionally squeeze it in the palms of the hands, allowing the moisture to dry without wiping the hands.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

H. B.—Paint rubber mat.

PEPPERS.—For pepper sauce steep small red peppers in vinegar.

OSCAR.—We have no formula for auto body polish. A good grade will not be sticky.

OLD SUBSCRIBER.—We hope some reader will send you a recipe for pumpkin butter.

COOK.—Anything made of iron will rust, no matter how much is paid for it. If the stove is not kept blackened and water touches it and is not wiped off immediately it certainly will rust.

LONGTIME READER.—Wash sound watermelon. When dry give half the melon a coat of varnish, then wait until next night and coat the other half. Keep this up until the melon has had three coats, but take care not to crack varnish. When dry hang it up in burlap in cool place and at Christmas you will have a first-class melon.

JAM.—Pickled rabbit (Hasenpfeffer): Skin and draw the rabbits. Lay in cold water for an hour. Cut into pieces and pack in a stone jar a layer of the rabbit, sprinkle with onion and spices; cover with vinegar and leave for a few days in a cool place. Take out the rabbits and onions, strain the vinegar, put it over the rabbits and simmer on the back of the range until tender. Pour some of the vinegar over half-pound of ginger snaps and when these are dissolved pour over the rabbits. Let all come to a boil and serve with potato dumplings.

MARCELLA.—White fudge with nuts: Two cups light brown sugar, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 cup chopped nuts, butter size of an egg, ½ cup milk. Boil all ingredients (except nuts) from 5 to 8 minutes after the mixture starts to boil, add a pinch of salt and beat till it cooks and thickens. Pour into buttered tin and mark with squares. Molasses candy: Two cups molasses, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 tablespoon butter. Boil hard, without stirring it until it hardens in cold water. Remove from the heat, add 1 teaspoon soda and let cool. Butter hands to prevent sticking; pull when partly cold. For dark nut candies, caramels, taffies or molasses candies which require pulling, the best brown or yellow sugars are used.

LAW POINTS.

STUDENT.—As repeatedly stated, dramshop keeper is not required to sell a drink to anyone, white or black.

MOTOR CYCLE.—The motor vehicle law does not fix any age at which a boy may operate a motor cycle. Write Secretary of State.

J. L. S. AND R. A.—There are three members of the St Louis County Court. They are called judges or supervisors, and are elected from districts. One judge is elected by all voters of the county, the other two by voters from two different districts.

ADAMS.—According to Blackstone, a man is "of age" on the day preceding the twenty-first anniversary of his birth. Christian's notes on Blackstone say: "If he is born on the 16th of February, 1695, he is of age to do any legal act on the morning of the 15th of February, 1629, though he may not have lived 21 years by nearly 24 hours. The reason assigned is that in law there is no fraction of a day—and if the birth were on the last second of one day and the act on the first second of the preceding day 21 years after, then 21 years would be complete, and in the law it is the same whether a thing is done upon one moment of the day or another."

MISCELLANEOUS.

E. B.—To remove varnish, soak it with wood alcohol.

W. H.—Colman's Rural World, St. Louis, has a percheron registry book.

J. X. Z.—In some Eastern Episcopal churches there is confession; it is optional, however.

XX.—There are no records by which you could locate the grave made 40 years ago in Picker Cemetery.

CELIA.—Try writing art departments of department stores in regard to preserved autumn leaves and crystallized foliage.

THANKFUL.—Free examination and treatment at medical college clinics. Colleges are listed in City Directory, in any drug store.

READER.—You might find hickory nuts in the neighborhood of Jefferson Barracks. For other nuts you would have to go out into the State.

G. W.—Such men as you mention buy both for cash and on margins. Most of their business is marginal trading. All the big movements on the Stock Exchange are engineered by these financiers by marginal trading. The stock sales shown in the daily papers as changing hands, mean the actual sales on the floor of the Stock Exchange, both marginal and investment. About 80 per cent of them are marginal trades.

FARMER.—It is said a good grafting wax can be made of equal parts of beeswax, linseed oil and tallow. An authority says: "A wax can be made by melting together beeswax, tallow and rosin. A formula for outdoor use is made of one pound of tallow, two pounds of beeswax and four pounds of rosin. The melted mixture should be poured in a pail of water and pulled with greased hands until it becomes light colored and grains. It may then be put away in oiled paper and will keep indefinitely. The warmth of the hands will be sufficient to soften it for use in the orchard. The hands must be greased, and the wounds in the wood grafted should be covered air-tight with the wax."

P. J. G.—No candidate receiving a majority of the electoral vote the House of Representatives must elect a President by ballot from among the three candidates having highest number of electoral votes. Vote in House is taken by states, delegation from each state having one vote, and that being decided by majority of delegation. As there are 48 states it would take 25 to elect in the House, which as now constituted has 227 Democrats and 162 Republicans, or, counting by state delegations, 23 Republican, viz: California, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming; 22 Democratic, viz: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia; 2 four evenly divided, viz: Maine, Nebraska, New Mexico and Rhode Island.

MO.—The seal of Missouri is in circular form and is 3½ inches in diameter. It consists of a circular shield, divided into two equal parts by a perpendicular line; on right is a grizzly bear of Missouri in a red field, above which is a silver crescent in an azure field; on left, in white field, are the arms of the United States. Around shield is a circular band on which are the words: "United we stand, divided we fall." For the crest, over a full-faced helmet is seated with six golden bars, is a silver star, and above it a constellation of 23 smaller stars, representing respectively Missouri and the 23 other States which formed the Union at the time this State was admitted. The supporters are a grizzly bear of Missouri on each side of the shield standing on a scroll inscribed with the motto of the State, Salus Populi Suprema Lex Esto. Under the scroll are the numeral letters "MDCCCXX," representing the year in which the first Constitution of the State was adopted. Around all is a circular scroll, inscribed "The Great Seal of the State of Missouri." Red, courage; white, purity; blue, heaven, truth, constancy.

The Post-Dispatch Daily Short Story

The Missing Link.

By James Buckham.

WHEN it was announced that Frederick Henderson had given $25,000 towards founding a library in Woodville, his fellow townsmen were not merely surprised, but amazed. Everyone knew that Henderson was in receipt of only a fairly comfortable salary, that he had no private fortune and that he had received no recent bequest. They knew, also, that he, with his wife and children, occupied a rented house, kept no servants, and, in short, lived after the usual fashion of small clerks' families. Where, then, could he have obtained $25,000, and why did he give it for a library instead of using it to feather his own nest? For five days town gossip buzzed about this mystery like bees in a clover patch, until finally, on the sixth, one man, bolder than the rest, went to Henderson and asked point-blank the meaning of his strange munificence.

To him the founder of the Woodville Library told the following story:

"There were five of us who went, early last June, for a camping trip in the Flat-top Mountains, away up in the northwest corner of Colorado.

"One route lay over Berthoud Pass into Middle Park and Twenty-mile Park, great successive terraces of rolling woodland and prairie, shut in by higher and ever higher ranges of the Rockies. By gradual stages we reached Trapper's Lake, 10,000 feet above sea.

"We had been in camp a week or more, and had shot a couple of deer and caught several goodly messes of trout, when one day the impulse seized me to take my camera, climb to the top of the last and highest range of Flat-top Mountains, and capture some bird's-eye views of the surrounding country.

"I reached the top of the slope and came out into a grove of scattered pines, through which I could see a clearing that lay just beyond. I was about to leave the fringe of trees and step into the open ground, when a rifle-shot not far away startled me. It was followed, in a minute or two, by another shot from a slightly different direction. The next moment a wounded deer bounded into the little mountain meadow, sprang with convulsive leaps across it, and fell dead on the opposite edge.

"Scarcely had the deer fallen, when a hunter, rifle in hand, came running through the clearing to the spot. Just as he drew his knife to bleed the animal a second hunter appeared. He also was running, but stopped as he saw the other man bending over the deer, and approached him more leisurely. All this took place in a very brief space of time, while I stood watching, just within the edge of pines.

"I saw the first hunter, who had finished bleeding the deer, rise and confront the other man as he approached. Then I heard excited and heated talk between them. As they stood wrangling over the little gray mound on the edge of the forest, the sudden inspiration seized me to take a picture of the vivid scene.

"Screened by the overhanging trees, and with no further thought than to add to my collection a unique bit of backwoods life, I hastily swung the tripod from my shoulder, adjusted the camera, focused, inserted a plate-holder, made the exposure, and secured a view of the two hunters as they stood wrangling over the fallen deer.

"Suddenly, as if moved by ungovernable anger, the men locked arms and began to struggle fiercely. My first impulse was to rush out and separate the angry contestants. My second impulse was to take advantage of the absorbing passion of the contestants and possess myself of another and still more striking photograph—a phase of real life seldom presented to the manipulator of lenses. This, accordingly, I did.

"What followed almost froze my blood in my veins. I saw the smaller but more active of the two men, by a sudden and swift backward motion of the right hand, draw a flashing knife from his belt. The next instant it was buried in the breast of his antagonist. The stricken man tottered, took a step backward, and fell, apparently tripping over the horns of the deer.

"I can hardly explain the impulse which led me, at this point, to slip another plate-holder into my camera, and with trembling hand remove the cap!

"The moment of exposure for the third plate was strangely opportune. The slayer bent over quickly and withdrew the knife from the heart of his victim. In the very instant consumed by the act my camera did its work. This was proved by the subsequent development of the plates.

"As quickly as possible I reversed the plate-holder and exposed another plate. The murderer had gathered his rifle under his arm, and, half averted in the attitude of flight, stood looking back at his victim. The pause was but momentary, yet long enough for swift-registering light to record. Then the guilty man turned and ran rapidly away through the woods.

"It was early afternoon when I reached camp. The boys were stretched out smoking, after their noonday meal. As I gazed into their unsuspecting, friendly faces an impenetrable wall seemed to rise between me and the full confession which I had intended to make. I simply told the boys that I had found a dead hunter, with a knife thrust through his heart, on the plateau above. Even then they would scarcely believe me, till I had minutely described the dead man.

"'He must have friends in the settlement,' I replied. 'We must report the case at once.'

"About a week later our party broke up camp and returned home. The tragedy had cast such a gloom over us that we no longer had any zest for sport. One morning about two months after my return to the city, I picked up a paper and was confronted by the following paragraph:

WAS HE THE MUURDERER?

HAHN'S PEAK, Colo., Sept. 25.—The Mexican, Pedro Marcelino, who was arrested in the southern part of the State two weeks since and brought here for trial on the charge of having murdered Albert Stetson while the two men were out hunting, last June, seems likely to escape conviction, as the case now in progress before the County Court fails to develop evidence sufficient to convict the suspected man. All who are acquainted with the facts of the case believe that Marcelino was the murderer, but, as only circumstantial evidence can be adduced to prove his guilt, it is more than likely that he will escape the noose. Every attempt is being made by Cyrus Stetson, the brother of the murdered man, to obtain evidence which will lead to the absolute conviction of the guilty party. The case, which is the most important on the docket, will probably be given to the jury before the close of this week.

"By the time I had finished reading this item I was actually trembling from head to foot. But I made a resolve. I would develop those negatives, and if they proved to be as graphic and exact as I had every reason to expect I would overcome my cowardly self-shielding reticence, tell my story as an eye-witness of the murder—for to me it seemed murder and not manslaughter—and submit my photographs as evidence.

"I went immediately to my darkroom, developed the negatives, and examined them closely. They were surprising even to myself, not only in their clearness and distinctness of detail, but in the marvelous nicety with which they had caught and fixed the very moments of the tragedy which would be most convincing as evidence.

"The day fortunately was bright, and I secured two or three good prints from each negative in the shortest possible time, packed a small strap-bag, and, without saying a word to anybody, took the train for Glenwood Springs, the nearest point by rail to Hahn's Peak.

"I entered the courtroom a few minutes before 9 o'clock. A group of lawyers stood talking within the bar. I asked to have the State's Attorney pointed out to me. He was a small man, with a plump waistcoat and a boyish closely shaven face. I stepped up to the bar and beckoned to him.

"The prisoner at the bar eyed me keenly as I came forward to take the stand. I recognized his face the instant my eyes fell upon it. It was the same which had looked back, half fearfully, half exultantly, at the dead man stretched in the grass of the clearing. A moment's uneasiness in the deep-set eyes gave place to a stolid stare of defiance, as I took my place on the witness-stand. What proof could the new accuser bring, beyond his own unsupported statement?

"I drew forth the photographs and held them out to the State's Attorney to be submitted to the jury. At this stage of the proceedings, impelled, it would seem, by a strange, ungovernable fascination, the prisoner (though almost palsied with fear, stretched out his hand and snatched one of the photographs as they were being passed to the jury. It happened to be the one which represented the murderer drawing the knife from his victim's bosom, while the light fell full and strong upon the pale, upturned face of the murdered man. As his eyes fell upon this awful portrayal of a scene which he supposed was pictured alone in his own haunting and accusing memory, the superstitious Mexican shrieked with terror and fell heavily upon the floor.

"The day after my return to Woodville I received a letter from Cyrus Stetson, notifying me that he would call the next morning to pay the reward of $25,000 offered by him for the apprehension of his brother's murderer. Now, I had known nothing of any such reward. My testimony in the case had been given simply with the idea of convicting the murderer, and at the same time partially atoning for my own cowardice. But it isn't every day that $25,000 is thrown into the hands of a man in my circumstances; and I may as well confess that the thought of all that the money could do for my family and myself was a strong temptation. On the other hand, to accept it was to accept a reward for my own cowardice and so to forfeit my last shred of self-respect. Between these two courses I could see no middle way. Well, you can imagine how fierce the battle was between conscience and self-interest when I tell you that I never breathed a word of all this to a soul, even to my wife, but lay awake all night, my mind oscillating like a pendulum between two decisions. And it was only when I had converted the entire sum into an endowment for the Woodville Library that I finally felt at peace with myself and the world."

VELVET THE MODE FOR AUTUMN WEAR.

All the pile fabrics are included under this head and the favorite colors are tobacco brown and dahlia.

FALL fashions are becoming more firmly established every day and special style features are beginning to be selected out of the jumble of new ideas for popular approval.

There is no doubt that the velvet coat and skirt suit will be the modish costume for all formal afternoon occasions. "Velvet" in this case includes everything with pile texture; panne and chiffon velvet, velveteen, corduroy, uncut velvet, brocade and plush. Wonderfully fine, soft plushes—almost soft enough for draped gowns—are used for evening wraps and for the linings of evening wraps, a new deep red called dahlia being a favorite shade.

Corduroy comes in entrancing colorings, a soft tobacco brown being one of the favorites. The smart promenade and matinee suit pictured is made of this, and the skirt shows the new drapery which is just now the grand chic in a tailored afternoon suit. The trot-about suit of serge for morning wear is rarely draped.

THE tobacco brown corduroy suit pictured is directoire in type and the coat is much longer than has been the rule for two seasons. Another interesting thing about the suit is the clever management of drapery with a walking length skirt. The skirt, as all skirts of promenade costumes should, escapes the ground by two or three inches and shows the neat walking boot of patent leather with a buttoned top of dull kid. The coat has dashing revers and equally dashing cavalier cuffs which flare widely from the rather close fitting sleeve. A Robespierre collar of pale salmon pink velvet is matched by cuff facings and triangular pocket flaps, with braiding done with fine soutache and small embroidered dots on the pink velvet to tone it down. Embroidered buttons of the velvet are set up the side of the cuff. In the opening of the coat is a little, high cut vest of the pink velvet with the large matching buttons set closely together.

THE craze for braid trimming is illustrated in the full-length coat, which has braid used something like ribbon on the collar. This coat is semi-formal and intended for afternoon wear over bridge or reception gowns, or for evening wear when one travels by public conveyance. The coat is of the new soft black plush, and is simple in cut, with straight lines and sleeves roomy enough to be easily slipped into. Wide braid edges the big collar, and there are three bows, two in front and one at the center back, where the trimming is mitred. These bows of looped braid are finished with big buckles of gunmetal. With the coat is pictured a new velvet hat with low crown and soft brim. A band of fur encircles the hat, which has two short ostrich tips, under and over the brim respectively.

A FETCHING theater wrap of chiffon and fur is shown. This is little more than a fur neckpiece flung over the shoulders and joined at the sides with sections of chiffon also edged with the fur. The wrap is intended for carriage or limousine wear over light theater frocks. The hat, of black velvet, is trimmed with a band of skunk fur and a deep blue ostrich plume. This costume includes a frock of white crepe de chine draped with chiffon, white satin buttoned boots and long white gloves of embroidered silk.

THE washrag kimono is now the proper thing for boudoir wear, and it will be an inadequately equipped trousseau this autumn that does not include two white washrag bathgowns—one for the bride and one for the bridegroom—for it is to be noted that exclusive outfitting shops for men are making a brave display of these. The dainty gown pictured is of white washrag or Turkish toweling with a collar of pale blue.

When Certain Diseases Occur

GOVERNMENT statisticians say that the months when the leading diseases most prevail and those during which they are least prevalent, with the maximum and the minimum number of deaths in territory covered during 1910, and embracing nearly three-fifths of the entire population of the country, are as follows: Typhoid fever, September (1197 deaths) and May (578 deaths); measles, March (1107) and October (79); scarlet fever, March (760) and September (241); whooping cough, August (720) and October (353); diphtheria and croup, November (1243) and July (640); tuberculosis of the lungs, March (7700) and September (5488); Pneumonia, March (7606) and August (1554); broncho-pneumonia, March (3229) and August (946); diarrhea and enteritis (under two years of age), July and August 12,535 and 12,565, respectively) and February (1357). The periods of most of these diseases are known to laymen, and in the family care may be taken, after a knowledge of the times of their greatest prevalence, that might prevent some of them.—Leslies.

GRAY HAIR DARKENED

A Simple Home Made Preparation That Excels the Best Dyes and Stains.

It often occurs that the simplest and least expensive preparations are the most meritorious, and this simple little recipe for darkening gray hair and correcting the ills of the scalp will be found to possess all the merits of the most famous dyes, stains and other hair nostrums. It is made by adding to 1 oz. of water one small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and ½ oz. of glycerine. Get the ingredients at any drug store at very little cost and prepare the mixture at home. Apply to the hair or beard once a week until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. Then once every two weeks will do. This is a remarkably good mixture for gradually changing the gray hair to a nice glossy brown and is equally as good for removing dandruff and other scalp humors and for promoting the growth of the hair. It does not make the hair sticky, does not color the scalp or soil clothing or pillow slips, like many made-up dyes and stains. If your druggist cannot supply Barbo Compound, ask him to order it for you.—ADV.

THE STORY OF THE STATES

ARKANSAS

Motto: The People Rule

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

A SCOTCHMAN, John Law, went to France early in the eighteenth century and there taught the French King how to spend money he did not have.

In thanks for these lessons in friendly finance the King gave Law a New World province named Arkansas. Law, in return, was to settle Arkansas with 1500 Germans and to protect them from the Indians. But he preferred to make money rather than history. So he stayed where he was. And he speedily came to disaster, while his Arkansas colony died unborn. He had thrown away the substance for the shadow.

De Soto, in the sixteenth century, had tramped and fought wearily through Arkansas on the fruitless quest that brought him burial in the Mississippi's yellow waters. Bienville, who settled Alabama, swept down upon Arkansas in 1686 and seized it in the name of France's King.

French traders and hunters formed rude settlements there. And in 1762 they were ousted by Spain, only to return once more to their mastery of the district in 1780. Still, the place did not grow, but remained a sparsely settled wilderness.

It was called Arkansas even then from the tribe of Arkansaw Indians that had once occupied it. But it was a part of Louisiana, and in 1803 it was included in the vast Louisiana Purchase that France sold to the United States.

There was a reapportionment nine years later which declared Arkansas to be in "Missouri Territory." In 1819 it became formally known as Arkansas Territory, and it included what was afterward Indian Territory.

In 1836 Arkansas was admitted to the Union as a slave State, to balance the admittance of Michigan as a free State. For the next quarter century the population steadily increased. The great planters owned a large part of the State, and local government was in the hands of one small clique.

Duels were frequent and murder was. The "bowie knife" originated there, and was used with such deadly efficiency as to give Arkansas its quaint nickname of "the Toothpick State."

Then, in 1861, came secession. Arkansas was rent asunder by sectional strife. A strong minority wanted to stay in the Union. The slave-holding planters did not.

It was decided to leave the question of secession to popular vote. But President Lincoln's "call to arms" put a stop to this plan. Arkansas's Governor refused the President's demand and the State seceded. Brother was arrayed against brother throughout the Civil War. Arkansas regiments fought in both the Federal and the Confederate armies. For two years the State was partly under Confederate mastery. But in 1863 it was reclaimed by the Federal Government.

Then the loyal element met in convention and repudiated secession, asking to be readmitted to the Union. Congress refused. Not until 1868 was Arkansas taken back as a State. During and after that time came the dark "reconstruction period" and the "carpet bag" rule that stirred up the smoldering strife afresh.

In 1874 something very like anarchy and local civil war prevailed on account of these disorders, and the United States Government was forced to intervene. Calm was restored. And, like her Southern sisters, Arkansas steadily and rapidly rose from chaos into an era of splendid progress.

COULD you be a gypsy, honey,
On the road with me?
Wandering the by-ways sunny,
Loafing on the lea,
Crossing royal mountains
Or the purple sea?

Could you be a gypsy, dearie,
Far and fleet to roam,
Head upon my breast when weary
And my heart your home,

'Neath the sky's blue dome?

Could you be a gypsy, darling,
Passionately free
As a soaring lark or starling
Mad with melody,
Could you be a gypsy?

If You Pick the Giants to Win the Big Series You Must First Knock Wood

MR. SHORT SPORT: Every little bit added to LUNK HEDD'S bank roll makes a little bit more

WONDERFUL WORK OF PITCHER WOOD WINS FIRST GAME

—By HUGH JENNINGS.

Outside of Ordinary Breaks, Likely to Happen in Any Baseball Game Boston's Victory Was Due to Flinger.

By HUGH JENNINGS,
Manager of the Detroit Tigers and Three-Time Winners of the American League Title.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.

WHEN the Giants fell before the Red Sox yesterday, after putting up as game a fight as could be expected of any ball team, it was once demonstrated that speed, coupled with control, is the greatest asset that a pitcher can possess. The wisdom of Manager Jake Stahl's selection of Joe Wood, the speed marvel of the American League champions, to do the heavy work in the opening game was amply proved.

Wood pitched one of his very best games. While he used his great speed nearly all the time, he protected it with a fast-breaking curve. In the pinches he relied on his fast ball, which is known on the American League circuit as the "smoke ball." The weather conditions that prevail at this time of the year were decidedly in Wood's favor.

At best, the Polo Grounds are known among the ballplayers as the hardest ground in either circuit to hit on. In the first place, structures back of center field make a very bad background for batsmen. Then when the shadows from the high Brush stadium fall on the field a "smoke ball," such as Wood, Mathewson and other pitchers use, is a difficult proposition for a batsman to tackle.

This showed itself in the ninth when a sudden and unexpected onslaught on Wood made it possible for the Giants to take the game out of the fire. The fans who were rooting hard for the Giants had virtually given up the fight and many of them were seeking the aisles. Then Merkle, the second man up, Herzog and Meyers each singled, Merkle crossing the plate on the Chief's drive to right field, on which Herzog went to third. Meyers went to second on the throw-in.

The Giants needed one run to tie the score. With Fletcher up, Wood put on all the steam he had and pushed the ball square over the plate at top speed. Judging by the way Fletcher swung, it looked to me as though he was looking for curves. But Wood crossed him and the result was that Fletcher hit late at two which he fouled. The third one was just like the two others. This time Fletcher hit at it when the ball was almost in Cady's hands.

Crandall Has Chance to Be Hero, but Wood's Great Speed Fools Him

Otis Crandall, who is one of the best hitting pitchers in the game, and one of the best clean-up men in the National League, had a fine chance to become the hero that everybody expects the world's series to produce. Becker had taken the Chief's place at second to do the running. With any kind of a hit from Crandall the Giants had the game balanced.

Wood still stuck to speed. Crandall let the first ball go by him. Umpire Klem called it a ball. The third ball was a peach, swift and true in the groove, but Otie, who likes speed, did the Casey with it and Umpire Klem yelled "strike two!" The next ball was like the others. Crandall swung and the ball went into the grand stand, foul. Here Wood varied his attack. He put up a couple of fast curves on the outside, but Crandall wouldn't bite. The count was then three and two.

The high, fast ball, on a dark field, propelled by the "smoke" that Wood can put on it, is the difficult ball for a batsman to land on. That is what he pitched to Crandall. He took a mighty swing, but hit under the ball and the hopes of the fans were shattered.

Jeff Tesreau now shares the honor with "Babe" Adams of the Pittsburg club of being the first young pitcher of limited experience to pitch the opening game of a world's series. Tesreau was beaten, but that doesn't change my opinion that John McGraw showed good judgment in sending him out to hold the Red Sox. No veteran that ever faced a serious job like opening a big series of games did better work than the young twirler did for six innings. He showed a great spitball that broke like a curve and his control for a spitter was good.

In these innings he didn't allow the Red Sox a hit. He gave four passes, but none of them caused him any trouble. Chief Meyers was responsible for Harry Hooper, the first batter in the game, getting to first on balls. He dropped a foul tip, which was Hooper's third strike. After this, Tesreau lost control and Harry walked, but the next three batters were easy.

A mix-up between Devore and Snodgrass in the sixth inning gave the Red Sox their first run. Before that, Fletcher and Snodgrass narrowly escaped a collision in the third inning, when Fletcher backed out for Lewis' fly back of short and Snodgrass came tearing in.

The fielders are hardly responsible for a thing of this kind. With a tremendous crowd, such as saw the game, roaring at the players at a critical moment it is impossible for fielders to hear the warning cry of a coacher. Wood was on second base, but Snodgrass stopped just in time to let Fletcher get the ball, retiring the side.

When Speaker hit to left center in the sixth, the Giants were not so lucky Devore and Snodgrass both started after the ball, which belonged to Devore. "Josh" was about to make the catch when Snodgrass dashed in front of him, grabbed the ball and dropped it. Speaker made three bases on the error and scored on Lewis' out, Doyle to Merkle.

It is a common thing for the Boston team, during the playing season to have one big inning that nets them the game. That is one of the reasons why the club has been such a consistent winner throughout the season just closed. I think that Tesreau pitched as well in the seventh as he did in the previous innings, but the Red Sox simply gauged his delivery, as they have time and again sized up that of the best box men in our League.

After Stahl had been retired, Tesreau, after having two balls and strikes on Wagner, pitched "Hafne" a ball to his liking, a high, fast one on the inside. Wagner showed his appreciation by lining the ball to center for the Red Sox second hit of the game. Cady also likes fast balls, and got one. He crashed to left center, and Snodgrass made a fine play for Wagner on second. Joe Wood then came to time with a hard hit close to second base. If Larry Doyle had been over a trifle quicker there was a double play in sight. As it was, the Giants' captain while on the run, didn't squeeze the ball. It rolled in the direction of Fletcher for the forcing of Cady. With two men out, Harry Hooper, with two strikes on him, rapped the ball down the right-field line. Murray played the carom off the wall well, but his throw to Doyle on second was high, and Hooper slid in for a two-bagger, while Wagner tallied and Wood went to third.

The score was then a tie, with Steve Yerkes up. Steve is not by any means the most dangerous on the team, but he proved himself equal to the task of bringing in Hooper and Wood. He also had two strikes on him when he uncorked a slashing drive between Herzog and Fletcher, that scored Hooper and Wood and nailed the game.

Murray Drives in Two Runs and Redeems Self for 1911 Failure

Just as I expected and predicted, Jack Murray, a classy ball player any way you take him, redeemed himself for his shortages in the 1911 series. It came Murray's way in the third inning to prove to his detractors, some of whom had him in the minor leagues this year, what the Giant fans really knew—that he could make good.

Wood had no trouble in striking out Tesreau, but his attempts to fool Josh Devore met with no success and Josh got a pass. He was on his way to second when Larry Doyle, who, as I remarked, can hit any pitcher, dropped the ball in left field between Wagner and Lewis for two bases, putting Devore on third. Snodgrass was unequal to the occasion. He struck at the first three balls that Wood put for him, fouling two of them and missing the third one altogether.

I want to say here that there was a strong resemblance all through the game of the pitching of Wood to that of Coombs and Bender in last year's series. It seemed evident to me that Wood has been posted on Murray's fault of hitting at the first ball pitched and at some that he could hardly reach with an oar. Sure enough, Jack hit and swung wildly at the first ball, a very high fast one. But after that "Red" outguessed Wood. He passed up a couple of high curves and forced Joe to adopt different tactics. His next ball was a fast one over the plate and Jack, to the delight of the fans, smashed it to center, driving in Devore and Doyle. Murray tried to take second on the throw-in but was killed, Speaker to Cady to Wagner.

It was a great triumph for Murray and proved once more the wisdom of McGraw in refusing to listen to the clatter of the hot-headed, fickle fans against Murray. That hit, in my opinion, offset all the failures of 1911.

The way Tesreau was pitching shut-out ball made these two runs look as big as the Ozark Mountains, where big Jeff is said to hunt savage bears.

Heine Wagner, in the fifth, gave the fans an exhibition of his well-known specialty of tagging runners at second base. With two out Doyle got his second hit, a drive that Gardner just reached with his right hand and knocked into foul ground. Gardner chased the ball and Larry tried for second. Wagner covered second and took a high throw. With the same motion he pounced on Larry, who had overslid the base and tagged him for the put-out.

As I expected, there was no base stealing in the game. Jake Stahl, after forcing Gardner in the second inning, tried to steal, but was an easy victim for Meyers and Fletcher. This attempt I attribute to Wagner's fondness for the hit-and-run game. He gave Jake the sign and tried to reach the pitch-out that Tesreau gave, but failed to touch the ball. On the other hand, I am sure that the two runs scored by the Giants would not have been made if Devore had not been well on his way to second when Doyle hit the ball. Lewis had no chance to get Larry, but his throw to Wagner at third got there just a shade after Devore landed on the bag.

There was a lack of enthusiasm throughout the game, as compared with the scenes at the opening game of last year's series that astonished me. Even when the Giants took the lead there was no such outburst of cheering as one would expect from so great a crowd of fans. When the Red Sox surged to the front the Boston fans, led by Mayor Fitzgerald and inspired by a wheeze band that turned loose airs of a past generation, worked hard for their cause. But that was only a drop in the bucket.

AB LANSING MAY SOON REPORT TO BILLIKEN COACH

Big Tackle Makes Tentative Promise to Get in Harness Before Miami Game.

With seven freshmen out for the first time and the announcement that Ab Lansing, the star lineman of last year's team, may soon join the squad, football affairs at St. Louis U. campus brightened up Tuesday evening. Recent happenings at the Billiken campus tend to dissipate the gloom crowd and Coach Dennie is squaring away for a winning campaign.

If he can snare Lansing he will have the nucleus for a formidable forward defense. The arrival of Orange Starr, the big Oklahoman, Monday, boosted the Billiken stock considerably and the appearance of Lansing now only is needed to give Dennie a strong line. He then can put Lansing and Capt. Stadthorr at tackles, Starr and Schloemer at guards and use either Donovan or Powell at center.

Dennie has a great array of backs and ends. Indeed, he has two sets of wing men and two sets of backs, but the weak line has hampered the work of these speed merchants so far. For that reason the arrival of such huskies as Lansing and Starr will mean much to the blue and white eleven. Dennie isn't worried about Saturday's game with Westminster, although the Blue Jays are respected as one of the strongest college teams in the State.

The Boston outfielders got two hits—Hooper and Speaker. The Giants also got two—Snodgrass and Murray. Lewis and Devore went hitless.

Wood fanned 11. Tesreau fooled 4; Crandall 2.

The Red Sox lead in extra-base hitting; two doubles and a triple.

Pinch-hitter McCormick failed in the seventh frame when he gripped wood for Tesreau.

Lucky Break Wins First Series Game for Red Sox

—CHRISTY MATHEWSON.

Bad Bound in Seventh Inning Ultimately Gives Boston Three Runs and a Victory Over Giants, Famous Pitcher Says.

By CHRISTY MATHEWSON.
(Copyrigt, 1912, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.

LUCK, it has been said, is one-third of baseball. In a short series I believe that this percentage is about right. The Red Sox got the "breaks" yesterday, and won. They played better ball, perhaps, but still they got the "breaks" in the luck, too.

When they attempted plays, we stopped them. They failed to work the hit-and-run successfully, although they tried it twice. They did not show the much-advertised batting ability, but a ball did take a bad bound in the seventh inning when they got their three runs which won the game. If that ball had bounded true, there would have been a double play and the entire side would have been retired.

In that same disastrous inning a short foul fly was lifted back of the plate and Meyers crashed into the press stand trying to get it but the ball fell just short. The catching of that fly would have saved us three runs. It hurt all the boys to lose that game, when we thought we had it won after collecting the two runs in the third inning.

Tesreau was breezing along in fine style up to the sixth and not a hit had been made off him until Speaker pushed out the triple in the sixth which gave the Red Sox their first run. That would not have been a bit if Snodgrass and Devore had been able to hear each other. The shouting of the crowd deafened them. "Josh" could have caught the ball easily. Snodgrass did not know this, did not hear him "holler," and tried for a hard chance and missed it.

"How do you feel, Jeff?" McGraw asked Tesreau after the sixth inning.

"Never felt better," he replied.

Then came the fatal seventh, which proved to be the "break" of the game. It was the inning around which the contest revolved, and it swung toward Boston in that round. Tesreau knew that he was working on a narrow margin of one run in the face of a big crowd, and he was eager to stay ahead. Any pitcher will tell you that as each inning of a ball game passes, the mental strain increases, particularly if the score is close. It will often destroy the equilibrium of a pitcher entirely if some mate, not realizing the psychology of it, shouts in a close game, with the score tight: "Come on, now, old boy; only one inning to go."

"Jeff" thought that he had a couple of easy batters coming up when he glanced at Wagner standing at the plate and Cady waiting in the offing. One was gone, the Boston leader, Stahl. He was anxious to get them out, to let them hit it. He got the ball a little too high for Wagner as he likes the high ones. He popped it to center field for the first clean hit of the game. "Jeff" had pulled out of other holes and he was not worried, but again he got the ball too high on Cady, not over just as he meant it, and again the ball was driven out on a line for a clean hit. Then came the "break."

Wood, who had been easy for Tesreau all through the game, hit sharply towards Doyle. Wagner and Cady were on the bases. It looked as if "Larry" had an easy double play at second base, but just as the ball came toward Doyle it took a jump away from him and to his right. He was lucky to break it down and very lucky to get Cady out going to second base. He had no chance for the double at first. That shows what the element of luck amounts to. First of all, the Red Sox were fortunate not to have been retired on a double play, and after the ball had taken the bad bound we were lucky to get anybody at all out. This put men on first and third bases. Hooper's disastrous double followed and Yerkes' single which scored two runs. That hit practically broke up the game.

Woods a Game Pitcher.

Wood was weakening after the seventh. He is a great pitcher and a game one, showing his stuff by the uphill fight that he made while his team was behind in the big battle. His arm never drooped and his heart never lagged. He was in there pitching, and he showed that he has the stuff, by the way, in which he mowed the best Giant batters down by the strike-out route. Still, we hit him better than we expected, especially in the latter part of the game, when he was plainly tiring. That was encouraging. He did not look any better to me than Bender or Coombs did last fall and he was depending on his speed almost entirely along towards the end of the game. He had plenty of that, but the Giants like speed when they have a good chance at it.

In the first part of the contest he showed a great curve ball that he mixed in with his fast one and had the Giants off their balance right along. Once Fletcher was called out on a third strike when he was in a crouching position trying to dodge what he thought was a wild pitch. Such pitching excites the admiration of any member of the profession. But Wood evidently believed that the use of his curve was tiring his arm, for he fell back on speed in the last few innings. When the shadow of the big grand stand begins to creep over the Polo Grounds the light in the batter's box is uncertain and the hitter has for a background a square on the center field fence painted green. It is very hard to see speed against this and somebody had evidently tipped Wood to the conditions, for when he began to tire he was just popping them through. For an inning or two this speed was effective, until the Giants discovered that he had practically abandoned his curve ball. Then they stood up there, settled on their back foot, dug in their toes and waited for that fast one, had it timed right in the ninth when we got three hits, one too few.

Boston Pitcher Shows Strain.

This inning was a big strain on Wood, as it would be on any pitcher. His face showed it and his nervous manner. He was consulting with Stahl and Gardner as every batter came to the plate, and seemed to be stalling for time and darkness. He knew that if he failed to survive that ninth without the score being tied his chances of victory would be greatly reduced, because no one realizes sooner than a pitcher when he is tiring, although none is less ready to admit this condition. Wood was pitching for his life and he was working on his nerve and gameness—at least that is the way it looked from where I saw the battle. To those last two batters whom he fanned he was pitching on his nerve alone. An outfield fly would have meant a tied score when Fletcher came to the bat, and no one realized this more than Wood did. His work was beautiful, and detrimental to our prospects.

But there is another aspect to this inning. It took a lot out of Wood. He is not a pitcher who comes back readily and will need his rest. When he meets the Giants again he will not be as strong and will weaken sooner as a result.

The rest of the Boston team looked like a good ball club, but there was nothing startling about their style. The club played straight baseball with few variations. Once or twice they tried the hit and run, but it failed. We worked it with great success once when Devore was on first in the third inning. Doyle dropped an easy fly in left field which Wagner could have caught if he had not been running in toward second base to cover. Devore got to third and Doyle to second. They both scored on Murray's hit. No tricks were tried and no attempt was made to get our signs. The Red Sox appeared to lack the aggressiveness displayed by the Athletics last year, although they fought back strong at times. Their hitting was not what had been predicted. They failed to touch Tesreau for six innings, and Crandall held them for the two in which he worked. I don't think we will have so much to fear from now on. Tesreau will be better the next time he starts, because he has gained confidence and knowledge from the battle of today. The Giants are not discouraged by this first defeat.

Two Leagues Now Claim Soccer Stars for the Coming Football Season.

John Finnegan, manager of the Columbus Club soccer team, claims that the St. Louis Soccer League will stage its games at Sportsman's Park with the Columbus Club, Innisfails, Irish-Americans and a fourth team to be named, as the contestants. He says the St. Leos are out of the league because Manager Klosterman refused to make the jump to Sportsman's Park.

According to Finnegan, a meeting will be held in a few days to pass on the admission of a fourth team to the league. He says he believes that soccer has outgrown Athletic Park. Klosterman claims that the St. Leos and Innisfails will be the foundation of a league at Athletic Park. So there you are.

McGRAW NOT FINDING FAULT; FULL OF FIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Manager John McGraw showed his gameness in a talk with a Post-Dispatch reporter after the first game. On his way downtown to catch the train for Boston, "The Little Napoleon" said:

"Well, we lost, but I have no fault to find with any member of my team. I can only regret the little mixup that resulted in the failure of Snodgrass to hold Speaker's hit, but I will make no criticism. That particular play gave the Sox their opening, and they took advantage of it in superb manner. I am satisfied with the game my men played, and am also satisfied with the pitching that Tesreau showed. They got to him in one inning, but then"——McGraw shrugged his shoulders—"show me the pitcher that hasn't been hit sometimes.

"I take off my hat to Joe Wood. He pitched a remarkable game. I know now why Wood ranks so high in the American League.

"My boys are not in the least disheartened by the outcome of the first game. There isn't a quitter in the bunch, and we'll go into the game at Boston just as full of fight as ever—probably even with more ginger.

"Of course the winning of the first game gives the Red Sox an advantage, but at the same time my boys are prepared to carry the fight to them. We made a good try in this first game, but were up against some very remarkable pitching.

"Tesreau did as well as I expected, and then, you must remember, we haven't yet really begun to show our real strength. I feel just as I look."

FRENCH PROMOTERS WILL NOT SUSPEND B. PAPKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The efforts of the State Athletic Commission to have the boxing authorities of France sustain the suspension of Billy Papke, ordered by the local boxing commission because Papke refused to keep his contract to fight Frank Mantell at the New Star A. C. last Tuesday night, have failed. The answer to the cablegram was received yesterday, as follows:

"Charles Harvey, secretary State Athletic Commission: I have seen Victor Breyer and we agree about the principle of an understanding, that is, a recognition of the penalties and scales of championship weights throughout the world. In relation to the suspension of Billy Papke we are equally in accord about the principle. However, it is impossible to apply a decision immediately, as the contracts for Papke for two matches were signed on July 2, before your notification, and all the expenditures were pledged before we had a chance to make the suspension applicable to Papke.

"M. ROUSSEAU,
"President of the Boxing Federation."

Krug and Cleveland Matched.

SLIM CHANCE FOR SOX AND CUBS TO RING UP

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—There seemed to be little prospect for the opening game of the series between the Cubs and White Sox for the championship of Chicago being played today. Rain fell continuously throughout the night and there was no sign of its stopping early today. The playing field is already thoroughly soaked and even if the weather should clear it was considered hardly probable that there would be a game.

AH! DENVER WANTS THE WORLD'S TITLE

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 9.—With three games won in the post-season series with Minneapolis, champions of the American Association, the Denver team, champions of the Western League, backed by the Denver Chamber of Commerce, will enter a challenge to the winner of the world's championship if the Denver team wins the game on Thursday.

President Edward K. Yetter of the Chamber of Commerce states today that negotiations will be begun as soon as the winning game is secured.

GRIDIRON NOTES.

A group picture of the Tarkio College eleven, which meets C. B. C. on the local campus Saturday, has been received. Tarkio has a squad of 30 players and they all look like demons.

In a recent game with Wentworth Military Academy, a team that ranked high in the college standing last year, Tarkio won, 7—0. Tarkio is said to own one of the best quarterbacks in the State in Gowdy, who scored the touchdown against Wentworth. Therefore it behooves Coach Luke Kelly to get busy.

The collegians are working hard. Scrimmage is on the bill of fare every evening, and the players are served with a goodly portion before they leave the gridiron. Kelly is a stickler for strenuous work, and so far his plan of campaign has been successful.

Coach Cayou at Washington also is a tough task master. He demands scrimmage, and lots of it, but Coach Dennie of St. Louis U. leans to the belief that scrimmage doesn't do a deal of good early in the season. After his men are hardened up in the preliminary games, Dennie intends to give them plenty of scrimmage for the big bouts.

Washington is making rapid strides, and the Pikers really are hopeful of holding the Illini down to a close score Saturday. The more sanguine supporters of the myrtle and maroon hope to win. Illinois and Washington collided in 1904 at Champaign, and the Pikers were humbled, 31—0. If Cayou's line will hold in Saturday's clash, the chief believes his speedy backs and ends will cause a lot of trouble for the conference contenders.

WRAY'S COLUMN

AHA! IT'S A CINCH!

EVERYONE knew it Wood happen. Some of us guessed right, the very first time. Those of us who did not will try to do so today. The others who make money by not wagering will be sure to know all about it, in any case.

In any event, however, it is certain the Boston team will win. If not the Giants will. Yesterday's game demonstrated that fact.

MY, WHAT A CHANGE!

"RED" MURRAY, the joke of the 1911 world's series, was the first to demonstrate the futility of having baseball opinions. In 1911 "Red" was unable to connect with a pitched ball for a base hit. This year he slammed one of the early offerings of Wood for a clout that scored two runs.

How do you figure that?

• • •

JUST A MINUTE, PLEASE.

THE best way is to write yourself out a check for a million and then stop payment. Thats' the way Red must have felt when the McGrawites lost, after he had given 'em that two-run start.

• • •

EMPTY SEATS AT GOTHAM.

THAT the New York system of handling tickets was a good joke on the ticket scalpers is apparent. Also, it was a great jest on the park management. It effectually prevented the scalping of tickets; also, it prevented the need of scalping them.

In fact, there were empty seats in the Polo Grounds stands, due to the fact that everyone was afraid of getting in line, for fear they would have to dribble through a 100,000 crowd to get to the ticket office.

It's just as well, although the poor players will only divide $40,568 instead of $40,567. Some insurance company was probably saved a policy by the omission.

COMING, SIR.

HUGH FULLERTON says it was up to one pitched ball to decide the first game of the world's series. It always is. The next ball.

SPEAKER COULD TELL IT.

JEFF TESREAU wrote a great story of the first world's series game, considering the fact that he can barely write.

• • •

LET'S CLEAN UP, MUGGSY.

HEY, Muggsy, let's draw the color line on those Red Sox. Or take them to the laundry and get them cleaned. The Giants don't seem to be able to do the job.

HERE'S A LIVE ARGUMENT.

JIMMY HURST'S complaint against the Boxing Commission of New York has some foundation. James declares the commission is distinguishing between its friends and the persons it doesn't know very well.

Considering the fact that the commission is struggling for a life, it is taking a very poor stand both in its own interest and in the interest of the game.

Briefly, Mike Gibbons ducked out of a fight with Clarence Ferns, dated for Indianapolis, Oct. 17, on the plea that it was too hard a fight for him to go through just prior to his engagement with Eddie McGoorty—a battle arranged AFTER the Indianapolis date had been set.

Not long ago Bill Papke was suspended for breaking an engagement in New York City. But as Ferns' match was in Indianapolis, it was cut out in favor of a New York engagement, and the act was considered all right.

That's no sort of logic for a body of men that want Paris to co-operate in keeping the boxing game straight. The thing to do is to begin at once, and begin with the commission itself.

POST-DISPATCH'S EXPERT HELPS HARVARD COACHES

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 9.—Hamilton Fish Jr., former Harvard captain and the Post-Dispatch's football expert, arrived yesterday on Soldiers' Field to take a hand in coaching the Crimson football candidates. Fish devoted his time to instructing the tackles and also spent a quarter of an hour in teaching the men the intricacies of the forward pass. The day's practice was again secret. The second team had the ball most of the time. By clever manipulation of the forward pass they were enabled to score twice on the varsity. Brickley for the regulars scored a goal from the field, and Wendall did valiant work through the line.

Princeton Has New Star.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 9.—In "Tubby" Waller the Tigers believe they have a man that will make a name for himself on the gridiron. Yesterday was the first time that Waller has had a place in the scrimmage and he showed to advantage. He played halfback on an eleven that was composed only partially of regulars and which lined up against the freshmen for a 40-minute scrimmage. Waller broke away soon after the kick-off and romped half the length of the field through the whole cub team for a touchdown.

This was the only score that was made on the freshmen, nevertheless they had a poor time with Waller, for he plowed through at will for 20 yards. The majority of the regulars were ordered to take a rest and Pendleton, De Witt and Bluetherthal went to the Polo Grounds to see the baseball game. The rest of the varsity merely tossed the ball around. Phillips, Baker and Waller were the only regulars in the scrimmage.

Shepard to Do Kicking.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 9.—Shepard will probably be used to do the kicking for the Tigers, following his good work in yesterday's scrimmage between the varsity and substitute teams. That means that Thatcher will likely be called on to do the long place kicking.

Gavigan Shades Willie Lewis.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 9.—Tommy Gavigan last night outpunched Willie Lewis of New York, formerly one of the welterweight champions, in 12 rounds, and received the decision.

Clabby Punishes K. O. Brennan.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Jimmy Clabby had too much speed and knew too much for Knockout Brennan in a 10-round bout here last night. Brennan never had a look-in and was badly punished in every round. Clabby dropped him in the sixth.

Wagner Draws With Britt.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 9.—Young Wagner of New York and Young Britt of this city boxed 15 lively rounds to a draw before the American A. C. last night. The honors were so even at the end of the bout that it would have been unfair to render a decision.

AUTO NEWS AND GOSSIP

Electric to Carry Five.

One of the attractions in the electric car class at the Automobile Show is the big foredoor five-passenger Woods Electric Limousine. Besides being the last word in convenience, it enjoys the distinction of being the highest priced electric at the show.

The car is to stay in St. Louis and was delivered several days ago to Charles Rice. It has a 108-inch wheel base and is equipped with solid tires, the only kind used by the Woods company. The car is finished in dark maroon and gray whipcord.

Another model, known as 1317, is a four-passenger Colonial coupe, which, although built to sell at the popular price of $2700, has an exceptionally large battery capacity and comfortably seats four passengers.

Hupp Line Adds Roadster Model.

The R. C. Hupp two-passenger roadster exhibited by the Weber Implement Co., is attracting much attention, as this model is a new addition to the line for 1913. This car is built along lines which incorporate the features which have much to do with the success and popularity of the R. C. Hupp since its advent into the motor world. The chassis of the new roadster is exactly like that of the new touring car with the same motor. The equipment of the R. C. Hupp line are electric lights, Warner autometer, top, with jiffy curtains and demountable rims, with non-skid tires all around. The roadster carries an extra tire mounted on a demountable rim in a self-locking tire carrier on the right running board.

Overland Purchasers Loan Cars.

T. L. Hausmann, president of the Overland Motor Car Co. of St. Louis, and his sales manager, Mike Doyle, are optimism personified, for their exhibit consists only of cars which were sold before the show and borrowed for exhibition purposes. Their exhibit consists of the model 69 touring car, four-passenger and roadster, all finished in Overland blue, with battleship gray wheels.

Maxwells Show Five Models.

In the Maxwell line for 1913 many improvements which commend themselves to the motorist have been made. Five new models are shown, a 40-horsepower touring car and roadster, a 30-horsepower touring car and roadster and a 22-horsepower roadster, all having left-hand drive and center control.

Electric With Glass Panels.

W. F. Siegmund, manager of the Detroit Electric Co. of St. Louis, is exhibiting a clear-vision brougham Detroit, something new in electric car construction. Glass panels, with concealed frames replace wooden ones at the sides and rear, while aluminum only has been used in the body construction. The seating arrangement is such that all passengers face forward.

Empire's Unit Plant.

The Empire "25" shown by the Johnson Automobile Co. is attracting much attention. Named the "Little Aristocrat" by the builders, it is the embodiment of convenience. It has a unit power plant and "L" head motor. A single center lever control, with the clutch, service and emergency brakes operated by foot pedals, are featured by the builders.

YALE VARSITY WINS IN GAME WITH "SCRUBS"

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 9.—Two long scrimmages for the varsity followed the rest of Sunday and Monday. The varsity first played the freshmen to a tie score and then played the scrubs, defeating them by a score of 6 to 0. The freshmen backs showed surprising strength in the first scrimmage and went smashing through the varsity line-up to the 20-yard line. There Dick Baker, one of the varsity backs, tackled a freshman runner, who dropped the ball. Sweeney of the 1916 team picked up the pigskin and dashed over the line for the touchdown.

After that the freshmen weren't in it with the varsity. The varsity backs, which had been changed except for Castles, went through the freshmen line to the 20-yard line. There Castles made a beautiful forward pass to Avery for 15 yards and Avery ran over the line with it for the touchdown.

That was all the scoring in the scrimmage with the freshmen, but the varsity was immediately lined up against the scrubs. For a time the scrub line held the line without much trouble and then the backs commenced to work through the line and finally Cornell, who had replaced Cornish, went around right end for the touchdown. There were no goals after the touchdowns.

Capt. Spalding and Bomeister were not in the scrimmaging. Markle, Beckert and Martin in turn took Spalding's place. Avery played for Gallaher, who has an injured finger, and Carter played for Bomeister.

Kraenzlein Will Go Abroad.

Alvin Kraenzlein, former coach of the University of Michigan track team, who is one of the greatest allround athletes ever developed in America, will spend two years abroad. It is possible he may sign to coach some of the European athletes in preparation for the 1916 Olympic games in Berlin.

Western Polo Tourney Called Off.

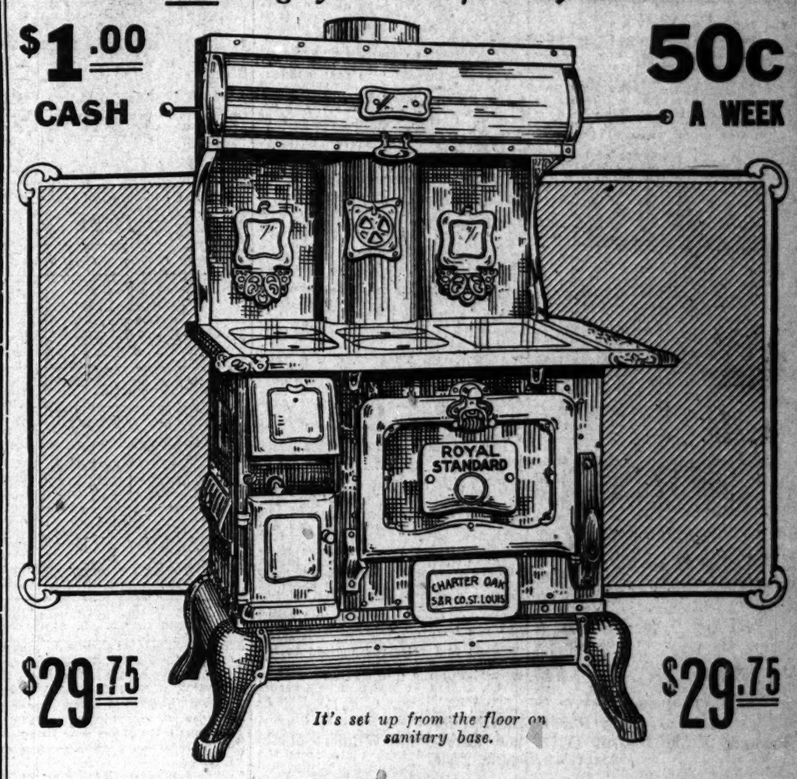

The Western polo tournament, which was to have been held on the Kansas City Country Club grounds, has been called off on account of the disease among horses in the west. There still is a quarantine in Kansas, and it would be impossible to ship horses across that State.

Mitchell

Mitchell 1913

THE Mitchell car for 1913 has gained an additional lead over its competitors for whom it has set the pace for past years; many of the improvements for 1913 were put on to make the Mitchell car not only a better purchase than any other car, but to make it so very much better that no one could hesitate after knowing what the Mitchell offers.

Many years of vehicle building have given this company an experience and skill that other manufacturers cannot have without similar experience.

Every good thing will be found in the 1913 Mitchell; look over the specifications of each model and see if this isn't true; there isn't a thing you could want or would get if you were to pay three times the price, that you won't get in a Mitchell 1913 model.

Here are the good points; found in all Mitchell cars; the cars built for the man who can't afford to make a mistake.

Long wheel base; all moving parts enclosed; every moving part gear driven; long-stroke, T-head motor; 36-in. wheels; tapered spokes; Mitchell special seven-eighths elliptical springs; left side drive; center control; electric self-starter; complete electric lighting system, silk mohair top; ventilating rain-vision windshield; Firestone demountable rims; Jones speedometer; Bosch ignition; Timken front axle bearings; Turkish cushion.

Now, think of something, if you can, that is good and isn't on a Mitchell car.

HERE ARE THE MODELS AND PRICES:

It's so Good Because We Build it With Such Care

Paige Model Brunswick, 5-passenger touring car, $1000

THE popularity of the Paige Car rests on the car itself,—the car and nothing else. Paige quality has forced its recognition, all over the world, as the leader of the thousand dollar field. Simply because the Paige is so good an automobile.

The PAIGE Car

is so good because we build it with such care. Take the motor for instance. The Paige motor—the very heart and life of the car—couldn't be built with greater care if the Paige sold for three times its price. We build the motor ourselves and we know. There are a score of refinements about the Paige motor which you will not find in the motors of other low priced cars, and these refinements like the ground cylinders (not merely bored and reamed), the heavy drop-forged, heat-treated steel crank-shaft, the long (8½ inches) drop-forged carbon steel connecting rods—these and many other distinctive high-priced practices make the Paige motor powerful, enduring and silent to a degree which no other car in its price field can match.

Mechanically—all the way through the car—the same better materials and workmanship prevail.

As to the style of the car, its graceful lines, you need but to look at it to know it. And as to comfort, you can prove that for yourself.

Five body types of latest design, all built on the one Paige chassis, and with the one Paige unit power plant. Prices $975 and $1000 for touring and roadster models, $1500 and $1600 for enclosed models. Equipment really complete.

Come see the 1913 Paige before you buy any car.

An Every Day Service

that eliminates costly delays by filling each day's needs the day they arise, is the Post-Dispatch daily want ad service.

It is a result service every day, because the Post-Dispatch, with its daily circulation—average for six months, 169,514—thoroughly covers St. Louis and suburbs, reaching the interested party within a few hours after the want ad is received. The success injunction "Do It Now" applies with equal force to renting rooms and hiring help. Post-Dispatch Wants furnish the means of filling the need within a few hours.

St. Louis' ONE BIG Want Medium.

SOCIETY'S $25-AN-HOUR TURKEY TROT TEACHER TROTS AWAY

At Least Dancer's Friends Say So

MAURICE and FLORENCE WALTON....

Theater Manager Insists Maurice, Who Made Bargain Rate, Still Is in St. Louis.

St. Louis society women who expected to be taught the Tango Argen-Tango, the aeroplane waltz, and the denatured turkey trot, at the modest price of $25 an hour, by Maurice, the dancer who came to St. Louis with the "Whirl of Society" company, are disappointed. Maurice will not whirl any more in St. Louis society.

Incidentally, the mystery of Maurice has arisen. The mystery is: Where is Maurice? Is he in St. Louis with the "Whirl of Society," or is he in Boston with Gertrude Hoffman? Or is he twins?

Friends of Maurice say he took his dancing rug and his wife, who dances with him under the name of Florence Walton, and left Monday midnight for Boston to join the Hoffman show. At the Jefferson Hotel it is stated that he gave up his room after Monday night's performance, and left for Boston, rug, wife and all. Manager Stoltz says Maurice is right here, and will trip the Tango all week.

Where Maurice is, however, is neither here nor there, so far as the society women who wanted to pay $25 an hour to him are concerned. They are not to be taught the Tango and the attenuated turkey trot.

Gets $60 From a Class.

One woman who received a private lesson in the Tango and the trot Monday and six who took a class lesson, for which they paid $60, are envied by all the rest.

When Miss Alice Martin learned that Maurice was coming to St. Louis, she, knowing that he had given lessons in New York and Chicago, wired to him at Chicago to know if he would be willing to teach in St. Louis. He replied that he would, at $25 an hour for private lessons and $10 per pupil for class lessons, which were "strictly bargain rates," as he had received $100 an hour in New York.

Some St. Louis society women had heard about Maurice through friends in the East. Miss Martin told others about him. She had no difficulty in lining up six classes and a dozen private pupils.

The "Whirl of Society" opened at the Shubert Theater Sunday. Monday Maurice gave a private lesson and a class lesson. Monday evening he was the guest of one of the pupils at dinner. Monday night he showed to a friend a telegram from the Shuberts, with whom he is under contract, ordering him to join the Gertrude Hoffman company at Boston. He and his wife appeared in the early part of the show Monday night and he announced to friends that they were leaving on the midnight train for Boston.

He was unable to reach Miss Martin by telephone, but asked a friend to convey his apologies to her for his necessarily abrupt departure. Miss Martin notified the society women that the Tango and trot lessons were off.

Calls It Perfectly Beautiful.

Concerning the trot, Miss Martin hastens to say that while the ordinary variety of trot is undoubtedly of low origin, Maurice has made a new turkey out of it that is perfectly beautiful and everybody's doing it in the East.

Miss Martin took a three-hours' lesson Monday in the Tango, the trot and the other glides in the Maurice repertoire.

Manager Stoltz of the Shubert says it is all a mistake about Maurice going away. Being under contract, he had no right to take engagements for lessons and so the lessons had to be canceled and that was all there was to it. Oh, yes, Maurice was still on the job with the "Whirl" and would dance at each and every performance, rain or shine.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

Canadian Pacific Leads a Decline in London.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—American securities opened easy and from unchanged to a point lower today. The continent was a free seller during the first hour, and the list declined under the lead of Canadian Pacific. At noon the market was weak, with values ranging from ¼ to 2¾ below yesterday's New York closing.

A moderate rally on New York buying occurred shortly before midday, but the selling pressure was renewed in the late trading, and the list declined and closed weak.

Money was in increased demand and discount rates were firm.

Sales to noon, 362,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.

Stocks were weak and lower today, following less favorable foreign political news. Canadian Pacific lost 2⅝ points at 273¼ on the initial trade. Other issues were ½ to 1 point lower.

The London market was weak and lower on the war situation in the Balkans and American stocks showed severe losses. Canadian Pacific led the decline with a drop of 2⅝ points.

Outside of the foreign news there was nothing of special importance in the market developments. The Government crop report will be issued this afternoon and is expected to show a wheat yield of about 720,000,000 bu, or about 20,000,000 bu over the previous month's estimate. The report also is likely to show improved conditions in the corn belt.

Trade and business reports continue favorable, but politics are more of a factor in speculation than in some time past. Money continues firm.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S WALL STREET TRANSACTIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Foreign selling, induced by Balkan news, combined with extensive local offerings, served to depress stocks to the verge of weakness today. Heaviness was most marked in Steel, Union Pacific and Amalgamated. Canadian Pacific was weak, breaking over 3 points.

Bonds were steady.

A slight rally followed the opening decline but the recovery failed to hold because of renewed pressure against Canadian Pacific and Amalgamated.

Buying of special stocks failed to have much effect on the general market, which was dull and drooping. People's Gas and Wheeling & Lake Erie rose 1 to 3 points.

National Bank of Commerce continued its advance on the local stock exchange Wednesday, the price rising $2 per share to the highest point touched on the present upturn at $157.25. Later the issue sold at $156.50 and closed with that figure bid and offerings at $157. The demand for the stock was fairly active on the advance.

Other bank and trust issues were quiet and irregular, with buyers and sellers rather far apart in their views. There was no pressure of offerings, however, in any of the leading shares.

The traction securities were about steady in the face of a light demand, with United Railways 4s traded in at $75.75, and the common stock with $13.37½ bid and offerings at $14. The preferred issue was unchanged at $43 bid and $43.25 asked.

In the miscellaneous list American Bakery common was steady at $59, but Granite-Bimetallic Mining was easier at 45c. Other favorites quoted showed no wide changes.

Local Money Market.

Short maturities of first-class names were taken by local banks during the day at 6 per cent for year-end. A well-known Boston commercial paper house had a very desirable list of offerings carrying the obligations of some very large corporations at the rate mentioned. The banks, as a general rule, were not in the market for purchase of outside bills excepting on the maximum quotations and for limited amounts only. Rates were 5½ to 6 per cent for all dates. Demand funds were offered at 6 per cent to the best borrowers.

Big buying of wheat in the Chicago market, with an advance of 1 cent a bushel, caused a like rise in local prices Wednesday. The advance was based on more warlike cables from the Balkans and higher foreign markets.

The upturn in Chicago unearthed a rather unwieldy short interest and a scramble to cover resulted. This made the trading very active on the advance until bear contracts were cleaned up. After that the market movement was irregular.

Aside from the foreign news the day's developments were bearish. Northwestern receipts were heavy, Minneapolis getting 579 cars, against 393 last week and 366 last year. Duluth had 730 cars, against 421 and 331, and Winnipeg 833, compared with 534 and 824. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 300,000 bu for four days.

The Liverpool wheat market opened firm, ⅜d to ⅝d higher, and later a further advance of ⅛d, with shorts covering, due to the strength in Winnipeg. Increased apprehension regarding the political situation also caused strength. There was a good demand from the Continent for arriving cargoes and an increased inquiry for forward shipment. The weather in the United Kingdom continues fine, with offers liberal, and European crop prospects improved, with Russia pressing offers for sale for nearby shipment.

Liverpool corn opened ½d higher and held firm. The firmness in Buenos Aires, fair demand for Plate cargoes and parcels and the unfavorable political situation caused firmness of holders.

Wheat futures closed ½d to 1d up; corn ⅞d to 1⅛d up, Berlin wheat ½c up, Antwerp ⅝c up, and Budapest, ⅞c up.

World's stocks of wheat Oct. 1 were 165,377,000 bu, against 191,474,000 last year. Increase in September was 32,922,000 bu, against 50,527,000 bu last year.

Russia is believed to have 100,000,000 bu more wheat for export this year than last.

Chicago wired: "The foreign news is, of course, the chief factor in wheat. At the same time there is a better demand springing up for cash wheat in this market and some fairly good-sized sales have been made this morning for shipment to the East."

Total clearances of wheat, 478,000 bu; flour, 41,000; corn, 3,000; oats, 42,000; wheat and flour 663,000.

A dispatch from Warsaw said: "Russia has ordered mobilization of 10 army corps on Western frontier, to be completed in 10 days, and martial law will then be proclaimed in Russian Poland."

Chicago wheat cars were 102, corn 237, oats 422. Estimated Thursday: Wheat 60, corn 193, oats 224.

The Ohio October crop report made corn's condition 96, against 85 in Sept. and 91 last October.

Local wheat receipts were 130,590 bu, or 440 sacks, 71 cars local, 37 through; last year, 19,800 bu, or 18 cars local; corn receipts, 57,600 bu, or 35 cars local, 3 through; last year, 42,000 bu, or 17 cars local, 18 through. Oats receipts 96,900 bu or 41 cars local, 16 through; last year, 64,400 bu, or 24 cars local, 8 through.

COTTON MARKET IS LOWER ON MORE BEARISH CABLES

Prices Touch a New Level on Present Dip.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 3 to 10 points or into new ground for the movement under active liquidation and local bear pressure, encouraged by relatively weak cables, and the unsettled situation in the Balkans.

Apprehensions that the colder weather in the Northwest might cause a drop in temperature over the belt before the end of the week caused a good deal of covering at the decline, while there was also a good demand from spot houses, and the market during the middle of the morning showed a rally of 5 or 6 points from the lowest.

After the close of the English market had shut out arbitrage buying orders, prices here weakened under continued local pressure and Southern offerings, with the market at midday about 14 to 16 points net lower.

Red Sox Victory Due to Series of Odd Accidents

Swat Milligan tells, for the Post-Dispatch, how the best laid plans of the Poison Oak Star and McGraw were spoiled by circumstances over which they had no control.

By SWAT MILLIGAN,
The Peerless Hitter of the Poison Oaks.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.

WELL, the Red Sox have won the first game and there ain't no way out of it. Still it seems mighty tough to have things go wrong through a bonehead play right when me and McGraw had everything figgered out to a gnat's heel. It ain't no fault of mine and it ain't no fault of McGraw's, but it happened and that's all there is to it. If "Moose" McCormick, the pinch hitter of the Giants, hadn't got excited and forgot his cue, we would ...ned a trick that would have ...fans of New York City ...knowed all the time ... going to ariz over

...t field and ... arranged to ...at came up. I ... me a secret scheme ... used in the Willow ...eague and it would have ...for certain if Moose McCor... hadn't got excited and spilled ...eans.

...hen a ball bounces off that concrete wall, as you know, it's liable to jump right into a fielder's hands. Knowin' this, I laid my plans accordingly. When a Giant hit the ball I wanted it to bounce far towards the center, and of course when a Red Sox batter hit it I wanted the fielder to get it. Me and McGraw talked this over and before the game our secret plan was started.

A Smooth Contraption.

We fixed up a smooth contraption in the shape of a rubber curtain which could be sunk in the wall and was exactly color of the concrete so that nobody could see the difference and git on. My secret service men put in a special electric wire that was connected with the New York benches at the end. It was fixed up so that by pullin' the string the rubber curtain would drop over the concrete wall. If a ball was hit against that rubber, it would bounce all the way to center field and be turned into a home run. All the operator had to do was to pull the string when a Giant batter hit a ball in that direction. Of course there was to be nothin' doin' when a Red Sox man hit the ball. McCormick was picked out to work the string because he wasn't in the game regular and had plenty of time. We rehearsed him all right and everything was perfect.

After all these fixin's now see what has happened. In the ninth innin' of the first game between the Red Sox and the Giants there was runners on first and second when "Chief" Meyers, followin' my signal, hits one on the nose and starts it for that wall. I knowed the game was almost the same as won. All of a sudden I see the ball strike the wall and fall right into Hooper's hands. What ought to have been a home run was nothin' more'n a single. I looked around at McGraw and McGraw looks at me. We couldn't understand it. Then I looks up and sees Moose McCormick runnin' out towards third and yelling for Meyers to go on. Then I understood it. That fellow had forgot to pull the string and the rubber curtain was stuck hard and tight. That's how the Giants lost the game. All they had to do was to follow my scheme and it would have been a cinch.

Me and McGraw got crossed again in the seventh innin' when Larry Doyle failed to make that double play and put the Sox out without a run.

Harry Sparrow's Faux Pas.

If you remember right, Larry had the double play started, but stumbled and fell, and couldn't get but one man out, and Fletcher had to help him do that. It was like this:

We simply gave Doyle the feather by mistake. But maybe I'd better explain more particular and go back a little. Last week we discovered a plot by which a wire was stretched from the bench under the grandstand to a place five feet in the base line from second base. On the end of this wire was a feather so arranged that when the button was pressed it would fly up and tickle the runner on the foot and make him jump over the second bag and miss it.

Having discovered this plot, me and McGraw laid low for a chance to get back and work it on the Red Sox, and fixed it so that the button that was to be pressed was in the lefthand corner of the bench. The beans was split when the Red Sox got a runner on first and second, and Woods, the pitcher, hit a grounder to Doyle just right for a double play. At that minute Harry Sparrow, a big fat fan, and a friend of McGraw's, came down to the bench looking for some information.

"Set down, Harry!" yelled McGraw, and Sparrow dropped just as Larry Doyle had got the ball in his hands. Harry sat down kind of quick like, and dropped kerplunk right on the button. That turned the trick. The feather at the other end of the wire tickled Doyle on the foot, and Larry being of a ticklish nature, fell right over. Fletcher got the ball in time to get one runner, anyhow, but that didn't count much. Besides gittin' crossed on the feather trick, another thing went wrong, when Snodgrass got the sign mixed in the sixth, and thought he had orders to go over and play left field, and put "Josh" Devore in center. The truth of the matter is, that Snodgrass was out there thinking about the world's series money, and what he could do with it in that dear old California. His mind went back to the days of the old Mojave Mobjacks, when the League's salary limit didn't allow but one outfielder. In his dreamy mind, Snodgrass just kinder thought he was that guy, and tore loose.

JOKES BY THE INFANTS

LITTLE GERALD, who was visiting in the country, saw the cook plucking a chicken and asked: "Grandma, do you take the clothes off the chickens every night?"

Carrie and Madge, aged 4 and 5, were making mud pies. "Me am going to make a cherry pie," said Carrie.

"Don't say 'me am' for 'I are,'" rejoined Madge, with an authoritative air.

Little Lola, aged 5, upon being shown her twin brothers that had arrived the night before, said:

"Well, I never saw such a woman as mamma is for hunting up bargains!"

Little Harry's mother was helping him with a lesson in the first reader.

"Mamma," he queried, "how do you s'pose Adam ever got through the book with nobody to help him?"

On Jimmie's birthday his uncle gave him a knife. His mother told him he ought to give his uncle a penny so that it would not cut their friendship.

"Oh, well," replied Jimmie, "it won't cut anything else, so I guess it won't cut our friendship."

Little Bess: How do you make buttonholes, Nellie?

Grace, aged 5, had twin brothers a year older than herself, who were mischievous.

"Papa," she said, "every night when Harry and Willie say their prayers they ask God to make th..o good boys."

"That's nice," replied the father.

"Well," queried the little skeptic, "why don't He do it?"

It was Bobbie's first day at church and when the organist began to play he asked: "What's that?"

"Hush, dear," said his mother. "That's the organ."

"Well," queried Bobby, "where's the monkey?"

For the first time Ethel chanced to see her father preparing to shave. Running into the kitchen, she exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, guess what paper is doing?"

"I don't know, dear. What is he doing?"

"He's making a cake out of his face," replied Ethel. "He's putting the icing on it now."

Fully Explained.

"WHAT is Boston coffee?" asked the customer at the lunch counter.

"It's the kind you put the cream in first," answered the waiter girl.

"But why is it called 'Boston coffee?'"

"Because the cream is put in first."

"Yes, I know, but when a man orders Boston coffee, why do you put the cream in first? That's the question."

"Because he orders Boston coffee. Anything else you wish to know sir?"—Woman's Home Companion.

Don't suffer another minute. Ely's Cream Balm will relieve you immediately, and a 50-cent bottle will more than likely work a complete cure. All druggists sell it.—ADV.

THE JARR FAMILY

By Roy L. McCardell

Dinkston achieves popularity by the well worn dodge.

AT a glance the Misses Cackelberrys knew that Michael Angelo Dinkston, the unexpected guest at the Jarr flat, was a married man.

True, there was gayety in his eye and a gay dog air in his manner, but the mark of matrimony was on him in a sort of furtive, "is-my-wife-coming?" apprehension that occasionally toned his genial spirits.

There was hardly need of Mrs. Jarr asking "How's Mrs. Dinkston?" nor for the reply "She is once again with the Cause. She has again taken up the tenets of Equal Suffrage."

"This is Mr. Dinkston, girls, a friend of Mr. Jarr's," was the introduction.

Who the Miss Cackelberrys were Mrs. Jarr did not think it worth while to state to the unwelcome caller.

"Very eccentric, very learned," she whispered to the girls, as Mr. Dinkston turned to Mr. Jarr and gave the sign of distress, or thirst gesture.

Mrs. Jarr's character description was in the nature of a justification of the genial vagabond being there at all. All persons for whom excuses have to be offered are friends or relatives of the men of a family. All the properous persons and the snappy dressers are one's wife's friends or relatives.

"The meteorological conditions are execrable," remarked Mr. Dinkston. "They cause me to suffer from extreme aridity of the larynx. I am advised by my physicians to keep the throat constantly moist."

"We have some lemonade," said Mrs. Jarr.

"Citric acid, no matter how diluted, ah, my dear Mrs. Jarr, that would be toxic, positively toxic, under the irritated conditions that exist!" Mr. Dinkston hastened to say.

Mrs. Jarr gave him a withering glance to denote there were several varieties of irritated conditions that existed thereabouts, while the Misses Cackelberrys totally ignored the presence of both Mr. Jarr and the last comer and began to quarrel with murderous bitterness as to whom a vanity box would come to in case of the death of their mother.

"Are you sure it is this evening Mr. Silver said he would be up?" asked Miss Viola Cackelberry, turning suddenly from the altercation over the vanity box (which it would seem was in Peoria and had been forgotten in the haste of packing). "We could have had some of those dear college boys here with their mandolins."

"I don't know what you are stuck on mandolin players for!" cried Miss Irene Cackelberry to her sister. "Men who play mandolins only do so to show their lavender silk socks as they sit crosslegged. Men who wear lavender silk socks never have street car fare to take a girl anywhere, and always ask you 'Do you make fudge? Let's make fudge!' because making and eating fudge gets you so sick of sweets that you never wonder why they don't bring you a box of candy or treat you to fruit-and-nut sundaes!"

"Perhaps the fates have in store for you a gallant, blessed with wealth beyond the dreams of avarice," said Mr. Dinkston. "The stars can foretell—the lines of a dainty hand"—

"Do you tell fortunes?" asked both young ladies. "Can you read palms?"

"There is no better reflex of character, no surer forteller of fate than tthe SCIENCE of palmistry," replied Mr. Dinkston. "I speak of the Science of palmistry, not the platitudinous generalities of the pseudoseer and charlatan. In my sociolic studies and pathological researches among the Romany peoples—descendants of the occult Chaldeans—I imbibed a pronounced and comprehensive knowledge of palmistry—and —ahem—other things."

"Oh, do tell our fortunes!" cried the two Misses Cackelberrys.

"No, MY hand first!" and they turned fiercely on each other.

"I can read the lines of several hands, coevally and synchronously," said Urbane Dinkston. "But, ladies, you must first remove your rings."

"And me, too!" cried Mrs. Jarr, eagerly. "Mr. Jarr, won't you see if there isn't something in the house Mr. Dinkston would care to drink? Have you no hospitality to my guest?"

Mr. Jarr went out to frisk the sideboard for the Scotch he had got for the expected bachelor, Jack Silver, while he wondered at the sudden change of front of the ladies the minute they realized that the guest, erstwhile despised, could assure them of happiness and husbands.

Just as he returned to the front room the door bell ran. "It's Jack Silver this time for sure!" said Mr. Jarr.

"Oh, well, you entertain him in the dining room. We're not going to interrupt dear Mr. Dinkston!" replied Mrs. Jarr.

"Yes, don't let him in!" said the Misses Cackelberrys.

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles—capable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alterative made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

M. MAGUIRE, Esq.

"About forty years ago, while in Newark, New Jersey, I had chills and fever," writes MR. MICHAEL MAGUIRE of National Military Home, Kas. "I went to Kansas City, and in the spring of 1877 the chills and fever returned. Doctors and everything I tried failed to do me good. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised. I took one bottle of it and the chills vanished. In about a year afterward I felt them coming back, so I got another bottle, and have never had any symptoms of fever or ague since. That is all of twenty years ago, for I had the chills about twelve years before I started to take 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"
